Grahn and Bathurst Submit Lowest Bids for Building Lincoln and Vocational Schools

RECORD NUMBER OF BIDS RECEIVED FOR THE WORK

Contracts to be Let at Council Meeting Friday Night

WITH the opening of eighty-one sealed bids for various contracts in connection with proposed construction of the Lincoln and Vocational schools here, the board of public works reported the greatest number of bids received in the history of any construction work in the city of La Crosse.

At [illegible] Thursday afternoon, when the bids were officially received, every seat in the council chamber was occupied by interested persons, most of whom were contractors from out of the city.

[illegible] and Peterson, Minneapolis, was next low bidder with $[illegible] for the Vocational school, with [illegible] and Olson, Chippewa Falls, runner up on the Lincoln school for the amount of $175,310.

Five Minneapolis concerns submitted bids for the construction of the two schools, there being but two from La Crosse. In each instance, F. E. Schaske and Sons, and Peter Nelson and Son.

Close bidding was marked in the electrical contract work. John E. Pappenfuss, of La Crosse, being low bidder in both schools. His bid was $6,0[illegible] for the Vocational school and $6,55[illegible] for the Lincoln school. In the Vocational school bid, Pappenfuss was lower than the Benton Electric company by $14.

Hengel Low on Plumbing

The Hengel plumbing company of this city was the low bidder on the plumbing contract for the Vocational school at $14,192, while the Western Heating company, of Minneapolis secured the Lincoln school bid at $16,367. The [illegible] City company of Minneapolis took the Heating and Ventilating bid for the Lincoln school for $2[illegible], James Conroy, of St. Paul being low on the Vocational school bid at $25,347.

The city council reserves the right to reject any and all bids received. Forty one bids were received on Lincoln school contracts and forty were opened on Vocational school work.

Extensive advertising of the proposed work by the board of public works was given as the reason for the large number of bidders.

RAILROADS ASK COURT TO SET ASIDE COMMISSION'S ORDER FOR UNION STATION

MADISON, Wis.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway; Chicago & Northwestern railway; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway, and the La Crosse & Southeastern railway operating through the city of La Crosse, Friday filed a petition in circuit court asking Judge E. Ray Stevens to vacate the order of the railroad commission requiring them to erect a union depot in La Crosse.

GRADUATED WEIGHT TAX FOR AUTOMOBILES APPROVED BY VOTE OF WISCONSIN SENATE

MADISON, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—The senate early Friday morning engrossed, 17 to 14, the highway committee weight tax bill imposing a graduated fee upon automobiles ranging from $10 to $26. This measure would raise $6,000,000 annually from car owners and is a companion measure to the two cent gasoline tax bill recently advanced.

The upper house vote came after a session that extended through the morning and was renewed at night, continuing until well past midnight.

With favorable action on both amended highway committee tax bills in the senate, their sponsors are confident that they can get the two measures through the assembly without any material change. If this is done the state will receive $9,000,000 annually from automobile owners for the support of its roads.

The weight tax bill, engrossed by the senate, establishes a graduated license fee based upon weight. Application of this fee, ranging in steps from $10 to $26, would produce $6,000,000 to go into a central fund, together with the $3,000,000 from the gasoline tax. Of this total $9,000,000, seventy-five percent would go to the state for construction and maintenance of a ten thousand mile state trunk highway system while twenty-five percent would be returned to the counties to be used as the county board directs.

Before engrossing this weight tax measure, the senate killed two amendments intended to impose a highway privilege tax on automobiles to take the place of the local personal property tax. Returns from this proposed tax would have reverted to the cities.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT URGES CO-OPERATION IN GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Tells of Shocking Condition Revealed After Canvass in One Section of City

A plea to citizens for better co-operation in the matter of handling garbage through the warmer summer months was issued by A. M. Murphy, health officer, at the city hall Friday morning.

Mr. Murphy urges that garbage cans be kept in more sanitary condition than a recent canvass of certain districts of the city has revealed, adding that unless citizens comply more closely with the regulations, more drastic means of enforcement will be taken.

Mr. Murphy's communication is as follows:

Unless citizens help the department in keeping receptacles for garbage clean and scalded out, we will be unable to collect the garbage from these cans. A canvass of the alleys with garbage collectors was made yesterday and it revealed a most shocking condition. At least one fourth of the garbage to be collected was a mass of maggots, which the men were forced to stop and cover in many instances. This we cannot possibly put in our wagons, larva and odor make the collection impossible. It should not be necessary for us to call the attention of citizens to this condition every year.

We are able to cover the ground twice a week or every four days and unless fish offal or meat is fly-blown before it is put in the garbage can it will not become a nuisance, if the can is kept clean. If the Board of Health does not get co-operation in this matter, arrests must follow where citizens maintain public nuisances of this dangerous nature. We are also asking where cans are old and bent, that it doesn't pay to be so small about this important public health protection. If your can is old, leaking and bent out of shape so cover will not fit on, get another can as it will be a good investment.

This condition is found in our better residence district and not altogether in the workers' district. Servants should be instructed to scald and clean garbage receptacles at least once a week. It is the little garbage and filth left in the cans each time that starts to ferment and rot and from this billions of flies breed. Every maggot means a fly. A large number of people were ordered to remove the garbage to the dump or to bury same deep on the lot. This is wrong as the larva finds a good place to develop either in the dump or in the earth and within ten days will immerge from the earth a full grown fly.

Another great danger to public health at this time of the year is the out-door vault. People that have not complied with the law in making sanitary provisions will find written complaints issued against them, an order of the Board of Health. We ought to be more fair-sighted in this matter and where no sewer is available the danger should be reduced to a minimum by using a reliable disinfectant as it will save dollars in doctor bills.

9 LAWYERS BATTLE TWO DAYS; 6-CENT AWARD IS RESULT

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Nine attorneys battled for two days in a case which resulted in an award of six cents for the plaintiff and in which the right of a father to slap his daughter's face was involved, tried in superior court here.

The plaintiff in the action was Mrs. Katie Edith Johnson of this city. She charged that her father, John Palmer, had "maliciously assaulted" her.

The jury hearing the case, while agreed that Palmer had slapped the daughter's face, also was agreed there was "some provocation". The plaintiff was given "damages" of six cents. She sued for $15,000.

Seven of the nine attorneys represented the plaintiff.

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-SIX GIVEN DIPLOMAS AT HIGH

Largest Graduating Class in History of the School Finishes the Course

TWELVE MEMBERS OF CLASS HAVE OVER NINETY AVERAGE

Scholastic Standing of Graduates is Best on Record

The largest in history the high school class of 1923, composed of 136 graduates Thursday evening received diplomas from President Luening of the board of education at a very impressive and delightful Commencement program in the high school auditorium.

This class exceeds all previous graduating classes not only in number but also in scholarship. Twelve members of the class received an average mark of 90 percent or above for the entire four years of high school work and a large number received averages ranging between eighty-five and ninety.

Carl Norbeck, who won the right of valedictorian, received a four year grade of 94.8 and Milton Stoen, Salutatorian held his grades to an average of 93.9. Others came very near to the above records. Those who received 90 percent or more in addition to Carl Norbeck and Milton Stoen are: Maude Anderson, Grace Bradfield, Albert Hirshheimer, Alice Lanz, Paul Larsen, Olga Mahlum, Mildred Metcalf, Lawrence Naegle, Ellen Salzer and Louise Zielke. Incidentally, eight of this number also received recognition as honor students in the new honor recognition program being installed at the high school.

Auditorium Packed

Relatives and friends of the graduates packed the auditorium on this occasion and applauded vigorously to every number of the program. The Commencement program was exceptionally good. The graduates marched into the auditorium in couples to the beautiful strains of "Flower of Liberty"—Niedlinger, played by Jane Ackerman, and took their positions in the front section of the room. Mr. Luening, Mr. Wiley, and the Commencement speakers went to the platform which was beautifully decorated with large and gorgeous peonies. Milton Stoen, in his salutatory address gave welcome in behalf of the class to friends and relatives in attendance and then introduced the topic to be treated by speakers following him which was: "The Sources of the Powers of an Educated Man." This topic was explained by the later speakers through their speeches on "intellectual power" by Maude Anderson, "adaptability" by Lawrence Naegle, "character" by Grace Bradfield, and "leadership" by Paul Larsen. These speeches were very good and to the point.

Music is Feature

Between the speeches, musical selections excellently delivered by members of the class, added greatly to the program. Miss Marion Holtze sang a beautiful solo "Blossom Time" by Salter, and Arthur Kreutz, played a selection on his violin which moved the audience. The selection was "Romance Andaluza" by Saragate. Another demonstration of the musical talent present in the 1923 class was the string combination of four violins, cello and piano, composed of Jules Raymond, Louise Krueger, Dorothy Spear, Ruth Parker, Solveig Magelssen, and Sara Magelssen. The girls chorus of the graduating class of 1923, directed by Mrs. Robert Whelpley, also sang beautifully the choruses; "The Years at the Spring—Beach" and "June Time—Speaks." The grand finale of the program was the huge chorus of 136 graduates who made a glorious success of "Land of Freedom" (From Lucia Di Lammermoor) This chorus was also the result of the work of Mrs. Whelpley.

Luening's Talk

The important event of the evening, the speech and presentation of diplomas by Mr. Luening, was in itself something to be forever remembered by the graduates of 1923. In his speech, Mr. Luening admonished the class after leaving the La Crosse high school behind, to think always of the hopes and wishes of their parents, their teachers, and the community at large. He rejoiced at having the pleasure of presenting the individuals of this class with their diplomas and a friendly bit of advice before they step out into the various directions to success.

After the program in the auditorium, the parents and friends of the graduates were the guests of the latter in the Hixon gymnasium where many a fond farewell to teachers and fellow class mates passed between the graduates. Music by members of the high school orchestra added to the excitement of the affair and finally many were seen to

MORAN ABSENT SINCE TUESDAY; HINT FOUL PLAY

Senate Tied up Under Call of the House as Officers Search for Missing Rhinelander Member

WILL BLOCK ACTION ON TAX BILLS TILL MORAN IS FOUND

Missing Man Holds Crucial Vote on Tax Legislation Now Before Senate

RHINELANDER, Wis.—Senator Barney Moran, for whom a state search is being made, was reported seen here late Thursday, but efforts to locate him Friday have so far proved futile.

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The mysterious disappearance of Senator Barney Moran, as the senate came into an issue Friday on the tax problem, caused the upper house to be tied up under a call while Sergeant-at-Arms C. J. Leicht was directed to ask police officers of the state to aid in the search for the missing member.

Charges of "foul-play" were made on the senate floor by Senator George B. Skogmo as Senator Moran continued to remain out of sight despite a two-day hunt that has covered northern counties. The vote of the Rhinelander senator is crucial in the tax fight with announcement by socialist members that they are going to vote for Governor Blaine's tax bill.

Holds Crucial Vote

Faced with a vote on the question which means a changed tax policy of Wisconsin, conservative senators demanded that Senator Moran be brought into the chamber before the issue could be drawn. He is expected to oppose the tax measures of the progressive republicans.

Following the statements of Senator Skogmo intimating that something appeared to be mysterious in the disappearance of the Rhinelander senator, Senator Kuckuk introduced a resolution which set out "that the sergeant-at-arms be, and is hereby directed to use every means regardless of expense to secure the attendance of any absent senator or senators."

Senator Moran was seen for the last time Tuesday afternoon, just before the tax bills were scheduled for consideration on Wednesday. He disappeared that night. A call of the house was put on early Thursday to compel his appearance, but the sergeant reported to the upper house Friday that he had exhausted every possible clew without finding a trace of the missing man.

Fear Foul Play

When this report was made Senator Skogmo rose and declared that he "was almost tempted to fear that possibly Senator Moran may have met with foul-play."

"I am not so sure," he said, "that this might not be more serious than it may seem at first blush. There is an air of mystery about it all. The senator," he continued, "was in this chamber the fore part of this week appearing to be in good health. He very suddenly dropped out of sight.

"We want the strong arm of the law brought into this case so far as it may be invoked. There have been ugly rumors afloat for the past two days. The sergeant should go to the bottom of this thing to find out their basis.

"So far as I am able to force it this search will continue for an indefinite period until it is cleared up."

Search is State-Wide

Sergeant Leicht announced that he had called upon the Milwaukee and Madison police to aid in the search. He is communicating with the police in the northern part of the state in an effort to enlist their aid in the hunt for the senator.

According to the sergeant, police officers have the power to take a legislator into custody and hold him until an officer of the legislature comes to get him.

Senator Moran is the only absentee from the upper house. Upon his vote will depend the outcome of the entire tax fight, senate leaders say, since the socialist vote has been turned to the administration.

When the senate went under a call, Senator Skogmo declared that it would be held there for a week, if necessary, before a vote would be allowed on the tax issue should Senator Moran fail to show up.

May Try to Raise Call

While the sergeant continues his search, the upper house is under a call, plowing along on routine business. Its calm was somewhat ruffled when it was learned that Senator Max Heck, Racine, had previously ob-

FRANCE AND BELGIUM TO REJECT NEW REPARATIONS OFFER MADE BY GERMANY

Britain Inclined to Regard Proposals as Advance Over Former Offers Put Forward by Berlin; France to Demand Abandonment of Ruhr Resistance by Germany

PARIS—By the Associated Press—Paris and Brussels are keeping in constant communication Friday, discussing the advisability of making a reply to the new German reparation note or ignoring it entirely as not susceptible of forming a basis for negotiation. In the event a decision is reached that a reply be made, the French government is reported to favor a curt dismissal of Germany's latest proposition.

Belgium, on the contrary, is said to be desirous of wording the acknowledgment in such a manner as might leave the way open for a further parley.

The French foreign office maintains an absolute official silence on the subject, but the indications appear to be that a reply would be made and that Germany will be requested to announce, once and for all, whether she intends to continue or abandon her passive resistance in the Ruhr.

The Belgium cabinet strongly favors a common inter-allied reply, but it seems certain that a joint answer will be possible only if London agrees to leave no doubt in the mind of the Berlin government as to the absolute necessity of discontinuing the Ruhr resistance. Upon this point Belgium and France are solidly agreed.

There has been no direct communication between London and Paris upon the subject, the British viewpoint being transmitted to the Quai d'Orsay through Brussels.

The expectation here is that Great Britain will agree that Germany must admit defeat in the Ruhr and that a joint note will be elaborated and dispatched to Berlin Saturday.

Advance Over Former Offer

LONDON—By the Associated Press—British diplomats were reluctant today to express an opinion regarding Germany's latest reparation offer beyond saying that they considered that in certain points it represented an advance over previous proposals. Until the foreign office experts have analyzed the fundamentals of the new note those in authority prefer not to commit themselves regarding what steps, if any, Great Britain will take now toward the solution of the indemnities problem.

It can be said, nevertheless, that the British government would favor the settlement of the allies' difficulties with Germany by an international conference on Berlin's proposals or by adopting the suggestion of Secretary of State Hughes that Germany's capacity to pay be determined by an international commission of experts.

In responsible quarters the assertion is made that British political circles feel the entire reparations controversy could be settled by Great Britain with Germany in a fortnight except for the inflexible, uncompromising attitude of France.

After the foreign office experts have completed their study of Berlin's latest offer, the British cabinet will consider the subject early next week.

It is learned on the highest authority that Downing street considers the reparations note constitutes a genuine German offer, the details of which were decided upon in Berlin without any sort of negotiation with the allies.

U. S. Sees Basis for Parley

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Dr. Otto Wiedfelt, the German ambassador, on Thursday presented to Secretary of State Hughes an official copy of the latest German memorandum to the allied powers on the question of reparations.

The new German communication is looked upon in administration circles as constituting a distinct advance beyond anything Germany has yet offered in previous communications.

Both the more detailed offer of guarantees and the German suggestion for a direct conference for solution of the question of amount and mode of payment are looked upon as very important.

It is considered possible for the allies to find in the proposals a basis for negotiation.

Washington's disposition is to regard the note as a plain indication of Germany's willingness to discuss the whole reparations question around an international conference table. In some respects this is in line with the suggestion made some time ago by the United States for an international conference. There was an indication of hopefulness that things are moving toward a point where differences are being narrowed and there appears to be a drawing together, even if it is only gradual.

Paris Disapproves

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The German reparations offer elaborated in the note delivered to the entente allies on Thursday remains entirely unacceptable to France, it was declared in government circles Thursday night.

It makes no appreciable advance over the previous offers and France can not even discuss it with Germany, for as was decided at Brussels on Wednesday the passive resistance in the Ruhr must be abandoned before any negotiations can begin.

Note is Unsatisfactory

The note was characterized as unsatisfactory for four main reasons:

First—Because it makes no mention of abandoning the passive resist-

222 STUDENTS ARE GRADUATED AT THE NORMAL ON FRIDAY

C. G. PEARSE, FORMER HEAD OF SCHOOL, MAIN SPEAKER

1923 Graduating Class Largest in History of the School

COMMENCEMENT exercises of the 1923 graduating class of the Normal school were held in the Normal auditorium Friday morning. Two hundred and twenty-two students received their diplomas, the largest graduating class in the history of the school. Since the school has been organized thousands of students have graduated and are now scattered all over the world.

The program opened with the marching in of the graduating seniors. They filled over half of the spacious auditorium and it was indeed a pretty picture of the white-clad girls and with the contrast of dark-suited men. A mixed quartet composed of Joseph Leeder, Mrs. Harry Watkins, Miss Louise Millar and H. W. Hirschheimer, sang "The Morning of the Year," by Cadman.

C. G. Pearse is Speaker

The Rev. J. L. Panzlau of the Salzer Memorial church, gave the invocation. President Cotton then introduced the commencement speaker, C. G. Pearse, former president of the Milwaukee Normal school and one of Wisconsin's foremost educators. Mr. Pearse's subject was "That Thy Days May be Long in the Land." It was a talk that will long be remembered by those who heard him, and especially the graduates. It was one of understanding and full of sound advice to those leaving the school. In part he said:

"Whatever you do, and where you do it, remember do it as though you were going to do it forever and not with the idea that some day you will be settled in something that you like better. You have been educated and trained and have been prepared and now you must be ready to serve your community wherever you go. Do not as teachers and educators become settled in a rut and begin to wear long faces as the years go on.

Should Plan Life Work

"You should plan your work, plan your life, and set your standard in order than you may win the best in this world, and be happy. In going out as teachers or in any profession, become well acquainted with the people of the community, as a general in the army becomes acquainted with the land in which his army is traveling through. Know all those people who mean anything to you or to your profession. As another point, I wish to tell you that no matter in what kind of a community you go regulate your conduct according to the standards of that community. If the people do not wish their teachers to dance, do not dance, or if they believe that teachers should not use tobacco, do not use it.

Must Please Community

"In other words, try to please the people of the community. In this way you will get the confidence of the entire community. They will respect you and you will find that in the end it will pay best. At the same time be useful in the community in which you are located. There are many possible ways in which you can become leader of the community. DRY ACT VALIDITY NOT QUESTIONED BY RULINGS OF COURTS

Enforcement Law Not Weakened in Any Way Declares Anti-Saloon League Leader

MADISON, —By The Associated Press.—Recent Supreme court decisions in Wisconsin has in no way weakened the Severson prohibition enforcement law nor affected its validity in any particular, E. N. Hicks, legislative counsel of the Anti-Saloon League declared in a public statement Friday. He said that the days "have no reason to be discouraged over the rulings."

Dealing with the Jokosh case in which the court held that no person could be searched without a regular search warrant merely to obtain evidence, Mr. Hicks said that "the Severson law does not attempt to legalize a search of this kind." He pointed out how in the case in question, the prohibition officer had a warrant to search a licensed place operated by a person named Peden, and that the officers searched Jokosh, finding the bottle with liquor.

"This warrant covered the premises only, and not the defendant, Mr. Hicks declared. "The Supreme court said that the search was not authorized by law. I wholly agree with the court. The validity of the Severson law was not questioned and for that reason the court has not held any provision of the act unconstitutional or invalid. It has, however, sustained provisions of the law as constitutional."

The Anti saloon league official pointed out that possession of liquor in homes never was prohibited by the Severson law. In this respect he said, the law is less stringent than the Volstead act which prohibits possession as well as possession for sale. A desire of the legislature to protect the home brewer is given as the reason why possession under the Wisconsin statute was never made illegal, according to Mr. Hicks.

"The Supreme court in the case of Mary Bastle," Mr. Hicks said, "merely said that the defendant in this case has not violated the provisions of the Severson law for the reason that she had the liquor in the kitchen of her home next to the room which had formerly been used to sell non-intoxicating liquor under license, which had been revoked prior to the time of the alleged offense."

Mr. Hicks declared that the anti-prohibition forces had little reason for jubilation over the court holdings.

Progress Backward

THE main argument made in behalf of the bill which aims gradually to do away with teachers' pensions in Wisconsin was that teachers are so well paid that they should be able to provide for their own retirement during their working years.

This does not in the least square with the facts. It is true that we can hire teachers for prevailing salaries. It is true that they might so deprive themselves as to actually save an old age competence out of a lifetime's work. But it is not true that they can do these things if they pay back the cost of that training which competence requires, and if they live in the manner which their association with the parents and contact with the homes of the community compel.

We may have good school houses, good text books, and good educational policy, but after all the most important element is the character of the teacher and the quality of the teaching. We can not get the standards of personality and instruction which we should have in our schools unless we make the profession of teaching attractive. Both independence and security must be offered, or we can not secure and hold teachers whose ability would return much higher emoluments in other lines. And should we withdraw the retirement fund we would invite the best of our teachers to abandon their teaching careers and to seek better pay in other pursuits.

In our judgment the present legislature has not made a truly progressive record in educational matters, nor has it approached with understanding that other great problem of democracy which is chiefly affected by the fear of unemployment and old age dependency. In the teachers' pension repealer both of these principles are involved. Were the repealer to pass the state would be forced to acceptance of that not uncommon interpretation of the present legislature which deems it controlled mainly by consideration of pocketbook and appetite, after the manner of the old fashioned chamber of commerce. If we are to turn back the clock and undo the constructive things achieved in the name of progressive republicanism in Wisconsin, we need not complain should other states come to regard the bock beer sign as a fitting coat-of-arms for the Badger state, and a bung-starter as an appropriate gavel for its speaker.

Perhaps, if the repeal bill passes, Governor Blaine may cut a new notch in his veto tally stick.

There is Hope

IN THE current Literary Digest book review monthly there is an article in which a critic of some standing undertakes to elaborate the thesis that the "Younger Generation" of authors in this country is growing older—and more conservative. He notes that some of the erstwhile freest of the free versifiers are coming back on the reservation of rhymed and metric stanzas, that "symbolism" is beginning to be laughed at, and perhaps his climax is capped by a quotation from a recent article in which Floyd Dell, the writer of "Moondalf," complains in a hurt tone about being regarded as a conservative by authors who must be at least a year or two younger than himself.

This is distinctly a relief, if the trend which the critic discerns is correctly observed. It is highly enjoyable to see the "Younger Generation," who felt the Elizabethans were a much over-rated lot and the Victorians paltry sentimentalists, and all the rest between mere copycats of the classic fashion, beginning to discover that they are also only a period in the development of letters, and not the final capstone of the column, as they have so often seemed to imagine. One begins to have higher hopes of American literature if these undeniably clever people are discovering there is after all a certain validity in tradition. The poets, particularly, to at least a few observers have seemed to suffer from an excess of freedom which gave their unmeasured pot pourri incoherence chiefly. If free verse, as we devoutly hope, gets out of fashion there will probably be fewer books but undoubtedly the requirements of technic and craftsmanship will bring a higher quality of verse from those who survive. Poetic ideas are not all there is to poetry, after all. Apt simile and emotional thought are not so uncommon. But genuine poetry, which blends word and thought into a stirring beauty somehow more vivid, more deeply felt, than either alone could attain, is rare indeed. It is a highly technical business, and rhythm and rhyme have often important parts to play in its finished performance.

It would be a relief, too, to get an American novel consisting of something more than cynical and minute realism. That is perhaps not too much to expect, if indeed the "Younger Generation" is growing older and more conservative. It is quite possible they may, like literary artists of other times, be able to discover something of goodness and beauty as well as of ugliness and sham in the world they live in. The raw criticism of adolescence may mellow into something more nearly representative of the complex fabric of evil and virtue, weakness and strength, which is the United States.

That would be the natural trend of maturity—and one hopes that it is indeed to be the course of American letters in the near future. We have had more than sufficient of the brand of writing which seems to look on America and Americans through the doggedly blue glasses with which decadent Europeans examine their peasant types. Such stuff can never be the foundation of a representative native American school of writing, as the "Younger Generation" have admiringly told themselves so frequently in the past few years. It is merely a parody of something that is completely beyond the American horizon. An American school of fiction or poetry must have room for the spirit as well as the surface of American life. And in getting under the surface the "Younger Generation" have thus far failed dismally.

Beauty and the Feast

By CLARISSA MACKIE

As usual, Alicia was day dreaming, although the hour was six in the evening and she was seated at Mrs. Dibb's boarding house table. Alicia Wakeley could transport herself to other places, other climes at will—just now she had forgotten the busy office where she was a tireless worker, forgotten the little home in the country, where her parents lived peacefully and frugally, forgotten the dubious tablecloth before her, the unsavory food, the weak and discouraging tea.

Where was Alicia?

Alicia Wakeley was alighting from her limousine in front of a fashionable hotel on the avenue, there were two men in front as the machine rolled away to make room for another with two servants in front. Alicia allowed her rich sable cloak to slip a little from her shoulders as she walked across the strip of rubber matting that led straight into the fairyland of the hotel. Glimpses of crystal electroliers, which the lights turned into fountains of sparkling jewels, vistas of softly lighted alleys where richly dressed women moved to and fro with dark clad men, then the sound of an orchestra, stringing soothingly in the tea room. Here in the exquisiteness of pale gray and rose-colored walls, rose-shaded lamps, and soft clash and tinkle of silver and glass—there she would be led to a seat. Here she would order tea, made before her eyes in a silver pot, brewed to perfection—perhaps scones, or toast or waffles. Diamonds would flash upon her hands, she would bow graciously to handsome men and socially prominent women——

"Prunes; I want more prunes!"

Alicia came out of her dream with a start. Here was the boarding house table and little Bobby Wren was wailing for a second helping of prunes. Her own were untouched and Alicia dreamily proffered them to Bobby, who chuckled gluttonously as he accepted them. His mother thanked her profusely, and Alicia was wearing a gracious smile when she slipped back into her day dreaming, and went on smiling graciously at gallant men and lovely women, and the orchestra was playing, "Three O'clock in the Morning——"

"Oh, Miss Wakeley!"

The pleasant voice was at her elbow, not in the phantom tea room of the Ritz, but at Mrs. Dibbs' table.

"Good evening, Mr. Langdon," she said coolly, for she did not want to be reminded that she was nibbling stale ginger cookies and drinking weak, cheap tea.

Jim Langdon looked at her humorously. The phonograph was playing "Three O'clock in the Morning," the boarders were leaving the table, positively casting regretful glances at the dish of baked beans, the lone saucer of prunes at Jim's plate, the two ginger cookies in the silver "basket." Sarah was bringing in a plate of hot biscuits.

"Ummmh!" murmured Jim as he helped himself. "It's a great night out, Miss Wakeley; what are you going to do? Don't tell me you have an engagement."

"Well——" hesitated Alicia, thinking of the book she was reading then, something in his eyes as he watched her, changing her mind.

"No, I have nothing to do," she confessed gayly.

"Will you go to a movie show?"

"Thank you—yes, and I will go and get ready while you are finishing your dinner," she answered.

Up in her own room Alicia sighed as she combed her shining hair into a golden mist and then coiled it deftly and fastened it with amber pins. She slipped into a pretty gray dress, and presently descended the stairs with the air of a grand dame, but to Jim, waiting below, she was an amazingly pretty girl in a fur-trimmed wrap with a furry hat on her golden hair.

He was unusually quiet as they crossed the city to one of the larger picture theaters. Alicia was quiet, too, but she would have been ashamed to have her companion read the discontented thoughts that raced through her mind—the glittering entrances to hotels, the waiting for luxurious motors to glide past, the windows of shops, ablaze with priceless fowers, all seemed tantalizing to Alicia as they walked toward the humbler amusement. Jim Langdon was interesting in every way, and he was in love with Alicia. She knew it—had known it, as truly as she had known that some day he would ask her to marry him, and that she would refuse. Was she not expecting some one out of that phantom world of riches and pleasure to come and rescue her from Mrs. Dibb's and the office life?

On the way home Jim confided in her. "My Uncle Miles died last week. He was good enough to remember me—left me a bit of money and the dandiest little farm up Waco way."

"How nice for you—my people live in Waco."

"So I shall be leaving the city next week," went on Jim calmly.

"Leaving New York? Giving up your splendid position?"

"Not so splendid, that position. It's all right, but it keeps me in doors from 9 in the morning until 5 at night."

"What are you going to do?" inquired Alicia faintly.

"Going to Waco—chicken farm—only an hour from the city, and I can breathe once in a while! I shall make plenty of money."

"Oh!" Alicia felt very strange and weak. To lose Jim Langdon—he would probably fall in love with one of the Waco girls, perhaps her own cousin Edith, who was blonde and pretty—she did not want Jim for a cousin-in-law. Gone was her day dreaming—the phantom life she had led among the fashionables. Suddenly, she was panic-stricken.

They had reached the steps of the boarding house. "When are you going?" asked Alicia.

"Next week." Suddenly his voice grew tender. "I don't want to go alone, Alicia. If I have everything ready in the spring, could you—would you——"

"Yes, indeed," was her soft answer, and the last of her day dreams fled away, for happiness had come to make worthwhile dreams come true.

NORMAL STUDENTS HAVE JOLLY TIME AT CLASS PROGRAM

1923 Graduating Class Stages Annual Exercises in School Auditorium Thursday

"FACULTY OF 19 0" SKIT SCORES THE BIGGEST HIT

Planting Ivy and Singing School Hymn Closes Celebration

Class day exercises of the 1923 graduating class of the La Crosse Normal school were featured by a number of special numbers which were well received by the audience Thursday afternoon at the Normal school auditorium. The program was opened by Chairman Francis O'Brien, who gave a short talk on the significance of class day.

Class Song Opens Program

The opening number of the program was the class song, composed by Floyd Hurst, by the entire senior class. Elizabeth Robinson gave the "rally class cry" and presented to William Voss the original jacket which is used in the game of tug o'war. Miss Robinson tied the senior colors, rose and silver, in the jacket, along with the thirteen other combinations of colors of the former classes.

William Voss gave the junior acceptance and it was a speech that stirred the feelings of those who heard him. He gave a short history of this section of country and how the people of La Crosse came to be. He told the seniors the juniors would strive to maintain the high standard that was left by the 1923 class and would do their duty in helping the school progress.

The Big Hit of Program

The biggest hit of the afternoon came in the next number, "The Faculty of 1940," given by a selected group of seniors. The stage showed a scene in Dunkville, and a boy is reading a book. The person reading was Miss Barbara Webber, who represented at first thought to be Miss Hazeltine. The resemblance was so great that it kept the audience in an uproar, especially when she began to read several of Rachel Lindsey's works. Russell D. Wartbloe as Mr. Loeder played the school's taskmaster to perfection. He lead the students in a song in the true Loeder style, causing the audience much mirth. Ben Sylla as President Cotton was another big success, as was Milnor Dorfmund taking Mr. Walters' part. Other takeoffs were: Bill Ross as Mr. Nohr, Fred Evans as Mr. Stafford, Tom Gilsholm as Marc, the veteran janitor of the school, and Fred Dickman as Mr. Corte.

Next was the presentation and acceptance of the class memorial by Ben Sylla, and the acceptance by President Cotton.

Several students were greatly enriched by the reading of the class will. Max Donovan appeased any appetite he may have had when Francis O'Brien willed one quart of milk to the "big boy" from Illinois.

Pinkey Weiele finally found the best thing to carry all his books home when he was presented with a bright shiny wheelbarrow. Tom Reay saved money by accepting a house from the senior class. Miss Mora Conlish left the room when her name was called so Chairman O'Brien did the next best thing and asked for Tom Reay and received a response. The most useful gift of the afternoon was presented to Mrs. Marge O'Brien Stoneman, when she was called up and handed a new rolling pin. Poor Nick slid down deep into his seat upon seeing woman's best friend. Nick and Marge are newlyweds just recently and are under fire these last few days.

Class Poem is Original

George Gerling read the class poem and it was well done. The poem was an original piece of work by Mr. Gerling and expressed many beautiful thoughts. The 1923 class yell was given with a vim and Chairman O'Brien then led the audience in singing "America." The audience then flocked to the large gymnasium where Tom Reay planted the ivy and spoke an appropriate speech for the occasion. Bobby Hurd then closed the class day program by leading the audience in the singing of the school hymn.

DR. PRINCE RESIGNS AS HEAD OF SPARTA HOME FOR CHILDREN

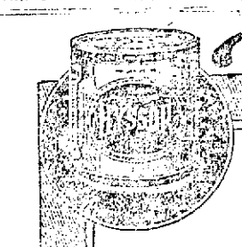

MADISON, Wis.—Dr. L. H. Prince, for a number of years director of the state school at Sparta, is to leave his present position July 1, it was learned Thursday. His resignation is said to be due to action by the state board of control.

Dr. Prince has been regarded as a leader in the treatment of children having deformities. It is in that work that he is engaged at the state school.

RESUME WHITFIELD SEARCH

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—The search for John Whitfield, wanted for the murder of Patrolman Griffith of Cleveland, was resumed in this section Thursday after three farmers near Lordstown, Trumbull county, had reported to Warren police that a man answering Whitfield's description had been selling spark plugs in that vicinity last week. Warren police showed the farmers a picture of Whitfield and they said it was the man they had seen.

Baby should be bathed at least once a day, as a rule in a tub. During hot weather one or two extra sponge baths [illegible] the baby [illegible] more quickly and thoroughly, and the baby is not so liable to take cold.

The room should be warm; an open fire is desirable in cool weather. The water should be comfortably warm, but not hot, about 10 degrees F. to 95 degrees F. It may be tested with the [illegible], never the hand. However, a bath thermometer is best.

Before baby is undressed, everything should be ready. In a small white wicker basket should be a cake of pure white castile soap, a small bottle of olive oil and a roll of absorbent cotton. A clean wash cloth, clean towels and clean clothing should also be ready.

A large bath towel should be spread over the lap to prevent his tender skin from the rough or worsted dress and to receive him when lifted out of the tub. More conveniently he may be [illegible] on a table. Take his clothes off over his feet.

Use Little Soap

Before putting baby into the tub, wrap him in a small blanket or large towel and wash his face, head and [illegible], being careful not to get soap into his eyes and mouth. Very little soap is needed and it should be thoroughly rinsed off. Pat the skin dry with a soft towel, taking care to dry well back of the ears and in the soft folds of the neck. The eyes should be cleansed with absorbent cotton dipped in boracic acid solution.

The nose may be cleansed with an applicator made by twisting a small tuft of absorbent cotton in a round pad on the end of a wooden toothpick and dipping it in boracic acid solution. If made correctly the cotton will not slip off readily. Better ask your physician or the nurse how to cleanse the ears correctly or you may seriously injure them.

It is well to lay a bath towel in the bottom of the tub and put in only a small amount of water at first. A plunge into a tub of water may startle baby and he may never enjoy a tub bath; but if the water be added gradually while his attention is diverted, he soon learns to enjoy the morning dip.

Dry Carefully

First soap the baby's entire body thoroughly; then place him in the bath, holding him with the left forearm under the neck and shoulders, the left hand under his arm, and lifting his feet and legs with the right hand. Support him while in the tub with the left hand and arm. Sponge his entire body with the right hand, then lift him out and wrap him in a soft bath towel. Dry carefully, patting the skin gently.

Never rub his tender skin with anything less smooth than the palm of the hand. A little pure talcum powder may be used in the creases and folds of the skin, under the arms and around the buttocks; but it should not be used so freely as to clog the pores of the skin and should never be used until the skin has been dried as thoroughly as possible with the towel. Highly perfumed powder should not be used.

The bath should be given as nearly as possible at the same hour each day, at least an hour after feeding, and at first should last only about three minutes. Older and stronger babies may be allowed to play in the water for about 10 or 15 minutes, for the skin absorbs some water, which is beneficial to the system, and it relaxes the muscles and aids in overcoming many wrong conditions.

MORE DANCES IN CHURCHES ARE ADVISED

SEATTLE.—Let us have dancing in schools and churches to guard the morals of the young.

Let pleasure-seeking children have their fill of excitement and entertainment—but in an environment of good.

Open the church and the school as community houses for wholesome recreation and amusement and, by so doing, eliminate the false lure of the public hall downtown.

Such is the plan being advocated here by Mrs. Henry Landes as a means of protecting unsophisticated youth during the years when longing for companionship and entertainment is strongest. Mrs. Landes is a member of the Seattle city council and president of the Seattle Women's Civic league. The plan she proposes is not only for Seattle but all other cities as well.

Ready for Use

"Churches, being places of worship, quite naturally should not become centers of indiscriminate revelry," Mrs. Landes declares. "But they should stand ready at all times to offer their facilities for the pleasure of their young folk."

If this is done, she believes, the youngsters will not find it necessary to patronize the dance hall, where there is no chaperone or restraint, and where too often the bootlegger and the drug vendor ply their tragic business.

"Our young people have the right to wholesome recreation in their leisure hours and the development of their play instinct is the responsibility of every community," says Mrs. Landes. "If we shirk this responsibility, it will come back on our shoulders and we will pay the penalty in the end.

Wholesome Atmosphere

"Churches and schools should be used to their full capacity for the benefit of the community. Dancing in such atmosphere will save our young folk from the menace of the downtown dance hall. It is not necessary to advocate dancing in church as a wholesome practice, but I believe the church should be available as a place where the young can seek innocent diversion.

"The churches should be glad to co-operate in this movement and I am sure they will.

"There is always room for great improvement in the juvenile life of the cities and I feel sure that provision of adequate and controlled places of amusement will do much in effecting that improvement."

RIDING HABITS

The formal "park habit" for riding is expected to be seriously rivaled by odd breeches of silk, linen, homespun or checked woolens with the solid color coat.

SLEEVELESS SWEATERS

Mannish sweaters, with or without sleeves, and often having a fancy front, are much worn for golf. They are worn with pleated skirts.

LARGE HATS

Large hats of straw and horsehair braid are now being shown to accompany the full-skirted, ruffled bouffant styles of the moment.

CANES AND PARASOLS

At the recent millinery show in New York, canes and parasols led in summer accessories. Fans and furs were conspicuously absent.

FUR TURBANS

Very large round ornaments of embroidery or beads are used directly in front on some of the new oriental turbans.

VEILS DECORATED

Veils of brown and taupe ornamented with vividly colored birds and flowers have made their appearance in Paris.

CHIFFON RIBBON

Pleated chiffon ribbon is being used effectively on summer hats and gowns.

"SING!" SAYS WISCONSIN MAN IN MUSIC MEET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Community music helps make better citizens and it is a patriotic duty of artists and tradesmen everywhere to further the development of civic enterprise in public concerts, park sings and student concerts, Prof. W. Dykema, of the University of Wisconsin's music school said yesterday in an address before the annual convention here.

"Every man, woman and child needs to sing, more frequently, more whole-heartedly, more enjoyably and with more self-expression than we know at present," he said. "What the artist wants—what America needs—is 'a horn for every boy'."

"The musician wishes more music, not for its own sake, but for its citizenship value. The love of music, satisfied by music spurs on the weary, calms the troubled, inspires the despondent, comforts the low in spirit, and stimulates and energizes all. The best way to destroy a musical taste is to feed it with a constant succession of tawdry, cheap musical satisfactions."

Love of music, the professor said, is born in us only in the most elementary form and needs constant nursing in order to be developed into an unquenchable flame which constantly demands more and more music for its satisfaction. Singing by people is the foundation of all musical development in the country.

About all some of our citizens join in at church is the singing.

BADGER BLUE LAWS STAND UNCHANGED ON STATUTE BOOKS

Grahn Bill Legalizing Sunday Sports and Amusements Defeated by 18 to 12 Vote

MADISON.—By The Associated Press.—The Wisconsin blue laws survived an attack directed at them in the senate Friday when the upper house by a vote of 18 to 12 killed the Grahn bill, already passed by the assembly, legalizing Sunday amusements, shows, sports and dances.

The stand of the senate means a continuance of the Wsiconsin Sunday observance statute that has remained on the statute books since 1848, notwithstanding repeated attempts of the legislature to remove them.

Senator Henry Roethe, Fennimore, defended the blue laws, charging that the attack on them was directed by the motion picture industry. He declared that in his opinion "movies are a curse to the country and should be abolished."

Senator Quick, socialist, Milwaukee, asked repeal of the law, asserting that the senators who now opposed their repeal had voted to kill his measure providing one day rest in seven for workers.

Labor unions, the Wisconsin League of Women Voters, the Wisconsin Retail Grocers' association, and other organizations, have protested against repeal of the Sunday laws as a step toward legalized work on Sunday for all occupations, Senator Titus told the senate. He opposed the bill.

The vote by which this attempt to open up Sunday amusements was killed follows:

BANKRUPTCY PLEA IS FILED AGAINST NEW YORK BROKERS

Police Seek Missing Records of Firm as Winkelman House Goes to the Wall

NEW YORK — An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in federal court Friday against the stock brokerage firm of L. L. Winkelman and Company, second largest member of the New York curb market.

The petition was the climax of an exciting forenoon around the Winkelman offices during which the doors of the firm were temporarily closed, only to be reopened again later.

Liabilities of the Winkelman firm were placed at $1,750,000 and assets at $1,500,000 in an application for a receivership made before Federal Judge Bondy. Judge Bondy named Charles L. Livingston receiver with bond of $50,000.

Seek Missing Records

NEW YORK.—District Attorney Banton who is investigating charges of bucketing against several bankrupt brokerage houses, Friday called on the police to aid him in tracing records of the curb market house of L. L. Winkelman and Company which disappeared a few minutes after an involuntary bankruptcy petition had been filed.

Mr. Banton rushed Assistant District Attorney Gibbs to the Winkelman house as soon as he learned of the crash. Mr. Gibbs reported he was informed that several large packages, presumably records of the firm, had been taken away in a taxicab.

FOR THE MAN OF THE HOUSE

Equipping an electrical den for the man of the house is a project that will not require as much money as one may think. These are some of the things to go in it: An electric log fireplace, an electric cigar lighter, a humidifier that clears and perfumes the air of every taint of tobacco smoke and even in these days the electric cocktail mixer cannot be overlooked. Other articles for the den are a clock that never has to be wound, and an immersion heater which may boil water for a hot drink or for shaving in ten minutes. His couch can be fitted with an electric comfort which covers it entirely; and a softly shaded reading light will surely be a most welcome companion at his shoulder.

ance, which is the first of the Franco-Belgian conditions.

Third—In suggesting an impartial international commission to fix the reparations total, Germany ignores and seeks to violate the Versailles treaty, which created the reparation commission for exactly that purpose. The French see no reason why the reparation commission should be supplanted.

No Satisfactory Result

Fourth—The suggestions for guarantees might be open to discussion if Germany proposed their administration by the allies, but if the Germans administer the guarantees the French would expect no satisfactory result.

The French are still unconvinced, they say, when Germany pleads inability to pay. They declare they have seen her living sumptuously and that they know she can meet her obligations.

Not Acceptable, Belief

BRUSSELS.—By The Associated Press.—Unofficial information Thursday night was to the effect that the terms of the German reparation note were unacceptable to Belgium.

The note, however, is couched in terms "much less arrogant" than heretofore, in the view of the ministry of foreign affairs. By recognizing the obligation to pay reparations the note has created a much more favorable impression than the previous proposals from Chancellor Cuno because, for the first time in the history of the post-armistice negotiations, Germany accepts allied financial control and offers positive guarantees.

NO INDICTMENT IN POLICEMAN-SLAYER CASE

HIBBING, Minn.—The grand jury in session at the Hibbing term of district court, did not indict William Gardner, policeman of the town of Stuntz for the slaying of George Crevich, a resident of the Morton Location. According to Gardner's confession, Crevich was killed when Gardner's gun was accidentally discharged while he was attempting to arrest Crevich for speeding. The grand jury made a special report on the shooting.

"STRIFE" WILL BE PRESENTED TONIGHT AT LOCAL THEATER

High School Success to be Repeated at the La Crosse Theatre

The great success of the High school class play "Strife," by John Galsworthy, in its first presentation at the high school auditorium last Friday night, has made it possible to present the play again for the general public at the La Crosse Theatre tonight, June 8th at 8 o'clock. Through the courtesy of F. L. Koppelberger of the La Crosse Theatres Company, the use of the theatre has been granted gratis to the high school in order that more people may have an opportunity to witness this intensely dramatic play. The proceeds from the performance will help to buy necessary equipment for the high school stage.

The great lesson taught by this play in regard to the struggle between Capital and Labor is one that will be of interest to every laboring man and every employer. This combined with the exceptional ability of the cast to put it on, is the reason why the play is being repeated. No one interested in this struggle between the laboring classes can afford to miss it. "Strife" portrays real life in its simplest and most complicated manner.

Members of the cast are visiting the business and factory section of the city with tickets at their disposal. The low cost of presenting the play at the La Crosse Theatre tonight, makes a cheap price of admission possible. There should be a packed house at the La Crosse Theatre tonight. Tickets may be reserved today by phone at the theatre box-office.

Honor System in Vogue

An added feature of this years commencement program was the presentation of additional diplomas to those students who have been recognized as charter members of the new "honor system" which was organized this last year after action by the student teacher council was taken to make it an important reward in school life. The purpose of the "honor system" is to recognize and organize those students who have attained an average of over 85 per cent in scholastic standing in addition to taking part in other activities prominent in high school life which help to develop and train the student in a manner similar to scholarship. These additional activities include athletics, debating oratory, dramatics, and so forth.

In order that those advanced seniors who promoted and helped to materialize the plan, might derive some benefit from it, the committee in charge recognized all eligible graduates for honor points obtained during the last year. The following graduates Thursday evening received this recognition and also the distinction of claiming charter membership in this new organization; Maude Anderson, Mary Reed, Mary Louise McCord, Mildred Metcalf, Olga Mahlum, Margaret Emmert, Kathleen Grams, Carl Norbeck, Milton Steen, Arnold Amunrud, Norman Hale, Louise Zielke, Carlton Johns, Kenneth Larkin, Paul Larsen, Albert Hirshheimer, Robert Yost, and Robert Harrier.

"Bandy-Legs" Less Common Than Formerly

Owing to the spread of knowledge among parents, such deformities as bow-legs and knock-knees are becoming less prevalent. Much of the malformation can be prevented or corrected if the limbs are treated before a child's bones become hard.

TAXICAB BONDING CASE VERDICTS ARE APPEALED FRIDAY

Fred H. Hartwell Contends City Ordinance Invalid and Contrary to State Law

An appeal to the circuit court from the jury verdict in police court, in which Walter Engler, John Rimmert and Art Deal, taxi drivers and owners, were found guilty of violating the city bonding ordinance was taken Friday by their attorney, Fred H. Hartwell, on the grounds that the ordinance is invalid and contrary to the state laws. So far the only taxi lines that have complied with the ordinance are the Yellow Cab company and the Rent-a-Ford company. The case against Jack Kane is still pending having been set for trial on June 15.

of the children you teach. Take an interest in every activity outside of the school, and you will soon become a leader.

"As teachers you should take care of your health and become stronger as the years go on. Famous ball players who are stars in the big leagues until they reach 40 and 50 years of age are able to do it because they have taken care of their bodies and health. Hans Wagner, who played until he was 50 years old, is probably the best example of this point.

Keep in Good Health

"If you are not in good health, quit the profession and get well. There is a great strain on teachers. They have a regular session of ten months, five days in the week, in which they must hold the wandering attention of their classes and therefore they must be in the best of health to do it."

The quartet, under Mr. Leeder, then sang the second part of the "Morning diplomas by President Cotton, singshort talk on the size of the class and called the audience's attention to the fact that many students were graduating with honors and some with highest honors. Presenting of the diplomas, by President Cotton, singing of "America" by the audience and the benediction by Mr. Parzlau closed the 1923 commencement exercises of the Normal school.

THE TURK AND HIS TAXES

The Turk is certainly to be sympathized with when it comes to taxation. He has often to pay taxes to get an egg to market. He must pay, of course, tax on his land, he must often pay a tax on each hen, on the food he feeds his hen, on the cart he carries his eggs in, on his horse or mule if he has one, and lastly, he must pay a tax on every egg and everything else he takes into the city. He must pay a road tax every year, which is not used on the roads. Generally he can get out of paying very much in some of these cases by paying a bribe to the collector.

SEE PROSPECT OF DEMOCRATIC SPLIT OVER PROHIBITION

Party Leaders to Meet at Appleton Saturday to Plan Reorganization

MADISON, Wis.—Democrats of Wisconsin will meet at Appleton Saturday to consider the reorganization of their party and determination of issues that will be brought into the campaign for presidential electors in April, 1924, as well as in the November general election of that year.

Local leaders of the party are preparing for the conference, which they believe will mean rejuvenation of the democratic organization in the state. They express the opinion that the democrats should take advantage of divisions within the republican ranks to advance their position.

Indications among democratic politicians here were that the conference would divide itself over the prohibition issue. Some dry members of the party are against injecting the issue in the next campaign, while the wets are prepared to make it the party's outstanding campaign principle.

Reorganization of the democratic party central committee is to be attempted, with selection of new officers and an active campaign organization.

THE TALL CHIMNEY

Factory chimneys, generally, by the way, called "stacks," are tall for two reasons. As every child knows, hot air rises, and the draught is produced by the heated air in the chimney rising and so causing fresh air to rush to take its place. The higher the chimney, the fiercer the draught. The second reason is that the sparks flying up from a furnace, the volume of carbonic acid gas discharged from clouds of foul smoke, and in the case of certain works, such as chemical factories, the waste products themselves, would, unless taken to a height well above ordinary roof level, constitute not only a nuisance, but a grave danger to public health and safety.

The minimum height of stacks is therefore often regulated by the authorities especially in cities. The highest stack in this country is that of a Montana copper company which is 506 feet high.

The former Russian empire possessed a most heterogeneous population made up of about 100 different peoples; and, a fact not generally appreciated, real Russians formed only 43 per cent of the population. This caused a lack of true unity and was one of the principal causes of the internal weakness of the country.

FORD GIVEN PERMIT TO DEVELOP POWER AT TWIN CITY DAM

Will Now Go Ahead With Plans to Build Big Plant on Twin City Site

DETROIT, Mich.—By The Associated Press.—Granting by the Federal Power commission to the Ford Motor company of a license to develop power at the government "high dam" between Minneapolis and St. Paul will give Henry Ford "a good start toward his campaign to show the American people what can be done by the use of water power now being permitted to go to waste," it was said Friday by persons close to the motor manufacturer.

Announcement that the license had been granted giving the Ford company development privileges for fifty years, was made in Washington Thursday night. It was learned locally that the Ford company plans to go ahead immediately with its power project to build a large plant as soon as possible that will employ between 3,000 and 4,000 men and that ultimately will be enlarged to permit employment of about 10,000 men. It will be the largest of the Ford plants using water power for manufacturing.

INVENTOR WORKS IN NOOSE'S SHADOW

Condemned Man Thinks Only of Others as Hangman Demands State's Due

JOE BOCCHIO

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Unselfish altruism comes even from the shadow of the gallows.

Joe Bocchio, 23, Italian poet and mechanic, sits in his cell in the death row at New Orleans Parish Prison here, awaiting the hangman's coming.

But his thoughts are not of himself. Twice the courts have decreed he must die. He protests his innocence, but accepts his fate philosophically.

Thinking of others, day after day, he bends over his blueprints, working on an invention which he believes will be a blessing to humanity in this great mechanical age.

Bocchio and five other Italians soon must pay the penalty the state exacts for the murder of Dallas Calmes, restaurateur of Independence, La. They were convicted on circumstantial evidence.

But to return to the invention—Joe had been in jail only a few days when he learned that Captain Archie Renryson, prison warden, had a wide knowledge of technical mechanics. To him, Bocchio confided his secret of an electric motor [illegible] which he worked two years prior to his arrest.

Regarding it only as another move on the part of a condemned man to gain sympathy, Captain Renryson was skeptical at first.

But he saw Joe was sincere. He went to the district attorney and asked that the young Italian be given permission to complete his invention.

Nothing could be done. The law holds no tools or implements with which he [illegible] can be given to a condemned man.

So Bocchio [illegible]

"I got the [illegible]

"I cannot tell you much about it for it is not yet protected by patent. But it will operate through application of [illegible] per cent of the [illegible]

[illegible]

"I want to [illegible] promised help in getting me a job on a boat, so I could work part of my passage.

"He invited me to a christening at Tickfaw. We were arrested on our way up, after our car had broken down. You know the rest of the story—what the state claims, anyway."

"If I have to die for a crime of which I am not guilty, I want to leave something for posterity to respect me for."

Bocchio also writes poetry to while away the dull hours when he's not studying his blueprints.

HARDING ASKED TO CREATE NATIONAL PARK IN ALASKA

JUNEAU, Alaska.—When President Harding comes to Alaska, Governor Scott C. Bone of the territory will ask him to declare Tongass Island a national park, the governor announced Thursday. The governor desires particularly to preserve a statue of Abraham Lincoln on top of a thirty-foot totem pole near the site of old Fort Tongass.

The statue was carved by an Indian more than fifty years ago. The Indian did his work from a photograph of Lincoln that a soldier had given him. The island is a small one off the southern-most mainland point of Alaska.

PREDICTS INCREASE IN CIRCULATION OF GOLD

NEW YORK.—A considerable outflow of gold from the United States in the future was predicted Thursday by H. A. E. Chandler of the National Bank of Commerce, in an address at the opening of the annual meeting of the National Monetary association.

"If the public could appreciate the fact that our huge surplus gold supply could not be utilized for credit extension without causing inflation and consequent deflation, an important lesson would be taught," he said.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A decline in the birth rate and a slight increase in the death rate in 1922 was shown in provisional census bureau figures for the year announced Thursday by the department of commerce.

DRY LAW REPEALER SLATED FOR DEATH IN BADGER SENATE

Even the Wets Express Doubt as to Chances of Tucker Bill for Passage

DRYS TO PUT UP RESISTANCE TO FINAL PASSAGE IN ASSEMBLY

Customary Wet Vote of Assembly is Reduced by Twelve

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—Despite the early impetus given the Tucker bill by advancement in the assembly, this repeal measure which would put an end to state prohibition enforcement, is scheduled for defeat before it runs the legislative gauntlet, the dry members of both houses assert. They announce that they will put up a more strenuous fight against final passage in the lower house, and will bring all of their force to bear to prevent favorable action in the senate.

R. N. Hicks legislative counsel of the Wisconsin anti-saloon league, announced that the roll call taken by the assembly Thursday on engrossment of the repeal bill, will figure prominently in the 1924 elections. He declared that a number of politically ambitious members will have to answer for their votes before the people. The wets say that they welcome such a test.

There was little display connected with the assembly action when it advanced the measure to go away with the Severson enforcement law. The anti-prohibition members did most of the talking, before the drys answered them. On the vote the usual wet strength of 60 votes was cut to 48, while the drys who previously had commanded only 39 votes as a maximum in the lower house had 48.

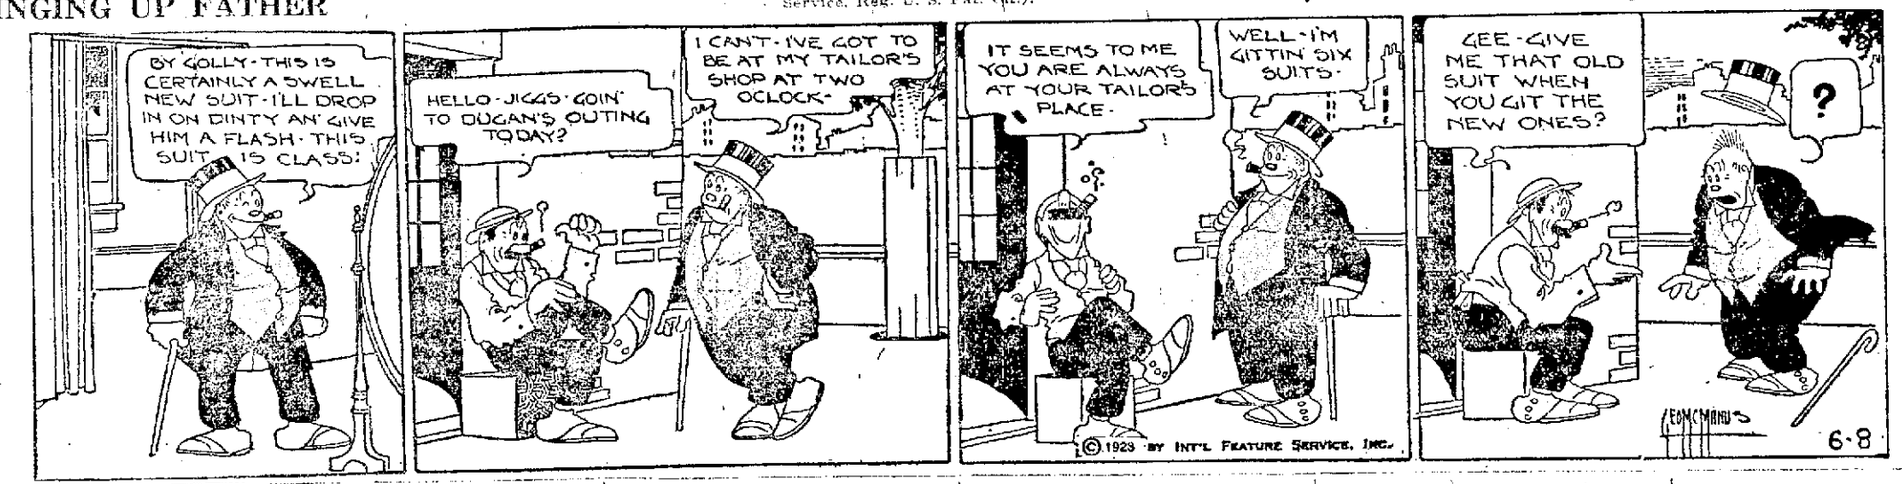

In the senate the dry vote of 18 members is expected to be recorded against the Tucker bill, should it reach that house. Even wet leaders assert that they have no thought that the repeal bill can get through the upper house. They claim that the Sachtjen bill, restricting search and seizure, is mild compared to the Tucker bill, and that measure was defeated with 18 votes against it.

NEW YORK MARKET SYSTEM CONDEMNED BY FEDERAL EXPERT

"One-big-market" Habit Blamed for High Cost of Fruit and Vegetables in Metropolis

NEW YORK.—A finicky palate and the one-big-market habit are the principal reasons why New Yorkers pay so much more for fruit and vegetables than the producing farmer gets for them, says a report prepared by Walter P. Hadden for the Department of Agriculture and the Port of New York authority.

In the first place, it requires 141,600 carloads of the stuff each year to satisfy the hungers of the city's 8,000,000 persons, and all of it, as the first step in distribution from rail-head to consumer is dumped in Conrad Market, a narrow stretch extending for a few blocks along the West Side waterfront of Manhattan.

This custom has grown up, Mr. Hadden explains, because all the jobbers of the city insist on seeing all the newly arrived fruit and vegetables, and on comparing rivals' prices, before they will buy. Thus attempts to break the dominance of the central market have failed.

Then the problem of diversity arises. A few years ago, the report indicates, the public appetite accepted its produce in bulk: oranges for breakfast always, or perhaps apples, and a few potatoes, onions and other common vegetables throughout the week.

Now the average housewife must have California grapefruit for her breakfast table one day, Florida grape fruit the next, Oregon apples the third, New York apples the fourth, Michigan peaches the next, continuing with fruits of varying clime. Going through the day of meals she will require celery, common lettuce, iceberg lettuce, spinach, escarole, romaines, etc., without end.

Thus the shipper, the jobber, the wholesaler, the retailer and, perhaps, the corner-store-grocery are confronted with the necessity of distributing an infinite number of part-car lots, part truck shipments, part crates and split packages. With each transfer the element of perishability increases and the cost per unit to the ultimate consumer goes up, says Mr. Hadden.

A ship from the gulf or a ferry of garloads from a New Jersey terminal lands at Manhattan in the evening. All night storekeepers unload it and arrange it for display in the central market.

Space is so limited that many commercial men keep motor and horse trucks in line for hours, to get early loads when the market opens at 5:30 a. m. Between ship or car and truck is operated a motor shuttle service, to save room and prevent thievery. This costs $20 a car for unloading, Mr. Hadden figures.

The shuttle loads the waiting trucks, which haul the produce to five outlying jobbers' markets. The cost is $35 a car in Manhattan; $57 in Harlem. The wholesaler makes his purchases at the jobbers and hauls them away with his own trucks. Cost about $25 a car. Then he delivers to the retailer, adding another $25 a car to the ultimate cost of the fruit and vegetables.

The retailer, if he delivers to his customers adds the cost to his bill.

"Nothing is more certain in regard to the handling of fruits and vegetables at New York City than that the terminal facilities now provided are rapidly becoming utterly inadequate," is Mr. Hadden's conclusion. It is this problem of terminals and the rapid distribution of food that the Port of New York authority, aided by the Department of Agriculture, has set out to solve.

AUGUSTANA SYNOD IN FIRST MEETING UNDER NEW RULES

ROCKFORD, Ill.—The annual convention of the Lutheran Augustana synod, the first meeting held under the synodical constitution adopted at St. Paul last year, opened here Thursday. Thirteen conferences and three home mission districts, embracing a membership of 293,777 in all parts of the United States and Canada are represented.

Radical changes in methods of administration will be made, including consolidation of the mission boards and election of a president for a four year term, to give his whole time to affairs of the synod. Some leaders charge that the increased powers vested in the president is the first toward a hierarchical form of church government.

PRISON COMMISSARY HEAD DIES AT BALL GAME

BUTTE, Mont.—A dispatch from Deer Lodge, says M. H. Osborne, in charge of the commissary department at the state prison, dropped dead of heart disease at a ball game in which the penitentiary team staged an exciting rally. Osborne was keeping score for the prison team and leaped to his feet as it went into the lead, only to fall unconscious a moment later.

Pretty Hands from Dishpans!

Pure Soap—This New Way is the Reason, as Thousands Now Know

Those lovely, dainty hands. Are you spoiling them?

Here is a new idea in a household soap. It will help you to keep them pretty.

As world's experts in beauty, we made it for the woman who does her own work. A soap for cleaning, scrubbing, washing, that is kind to the skin.

Why Women Had Ugly Hands

3 housewives in 4 used to have ugly, red hands.

Now you see fewer and fewer every day. "Housewives' hands" soon will be a rarity.

Old-time household soaps contained 25% to 40% water-glass—a skin wrecker. Of 28 popular brands recently tested, 27 were adulterated.

That was the cause.

Now With Olive Oil!

But now comes a more gentle way.

The name is Green Arrow—all pure soap, no adulterant.

Olive oil is a principal ingredient. It is as fine as a quality toilet soap. Yet it cleans more quickly and safely than the strongest laundry soap.

Wash, scrub, house clean—you have pretty hands! It will do this for you.

For One Week

Obtain a bar of Green Arrow at your grocer's.

Then look at your hands in one week.

What you see will be a revelation.

And it costs but a few cents each month to enjoy this new delight. It goes almost twice as far as low grade soap—and you must figure soap cost by the month, not by the cake.

Green Arrow Soap comes in two forms—cake soap, for general household use—chips (or flakes) for laundry and fine fabrics. Both offer you unusual advantages.

Your Hands Tell the Story

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket.

Most women do housework. But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance.

Most laundry soaps contain 25 to 40% water glass. This adulterant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic. It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands. Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap.

Now you can have white and lovely hands regardless of how much kitchen work you do.

For your hands and your clothes sake, go to your grocer and insist on buying GREEN ARROW.

WOMAN POSSESSING LIQUOR DISMISSED BY JUDGE UNDER NEW SUPREME COURT RULING

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The first dismissal of a charge of violating the Severson law under the state supreme court decision that possession of alcoholic liquors is not punishable under the statute, occurred in district court Thursday when Judge George [illegible] Page, in district court refused to convict Mrs. Joseph Tykle, of unlawful possession of moonshine.

The woman admitted the charge, giving as her excuse the claim that a physician had ordered her to use alcohol in massaging her arm. Judge Page held that the supreme court decision in the [illegible] prevented the conviction of the woman and dismissed the case.

Court officials and lawyers are now agreed that only three provisions of the Severson law now stand intact. They are:

A person may be convicted if it is proved that liquor is actually sold by him.

A person may be convicted if it is proved that liquor is manufactured by him.

A person licensed under the Severson law to sell soft drinks may be convicted of unlawful possession of alcoholic liquor if it is found in his possession.

Doubling in Brass

WHEN a member of an Uncle Tom's troupe plays Simon Legree on the stage and the slide trombone in the parade, he is said to "double in brass."

Doubling in brass is velvet for the manager. He gets two "artists" for the price of one, saving a meal ticket and a railroad ticket, to say nothing of a salary.

Perhaps this idea will help us to explain the double buying-power of a large part of The Literary Digest subscribers.

WE HAVE just inspected our subscription list. We now know what our subscribers do for a living, and especially what position they occupy in their businesses. Most of them (73% to be exact), are at or near the top, where they are able to influence a great deal of buying.

A man who owns a business and a home is a customer of two capacities—a business capacity and a home capacity.

Let us see how this works out.

Here we have Mr. C who is a miner. He is the executive head of a company engaged in extracting ore.

Of the 18,853 Digest subscribers engaged in mining, 12,836 are owners, officers, or executives. [See note].

Mr. C contracts for or influences the buying of supplies for his mining company and for his home.

Therefore he is a multiple customer.

He is reached in both capacities by the same copy of The Digest.

He might buy the same paint and varnish, for instance, for the up-keep of his plant as he buys for the up-keep of his home.

The Digest may be said to "double in brass" for the advertiser who sells things bought for both a business and a home.

NOTE

THE FACTS are taken from our book, "The Work They Do and Where They Live—Circulation Analysis of The Literary Digest," which classifies the readers of The Digest by their occupations and the positions they hold. We shall be glad to prepare upon request a chart showing just how the information we have about The Digest may be applied to your own advertising.

SEARCH FOR GIRL BANDIT EXTENDED INTO WISCONSIN

Suspect in Tesmer Killing in Chicago is Sought in Milwaukee

CHICAGO, Ill.—The police and operatives of the state attorney's office Friday extended outside the state their search for the blue eyed, smiling girl bandit who slew Richard C. Tesmer, wealthy insurance man, at his home here Tuesday night.

Mrs. Gertrude Getson, foremost among the dozen or more suspects, is being sought in Milwaukee, where she recently is known to have stopped at a hotel.

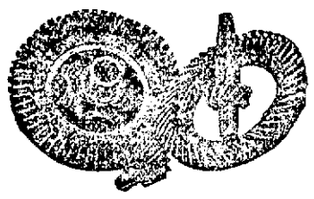

Discounting the theory that Tesmer was killed by members of a ring of automobile thieves, which the insurance man has vigorously prosecuted, the police say they are convinced that robbery was the motive for the hold-up of Tesmer and his wife, which ended in the former's death.

Question Milwaukee Woman

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Miss Ann McCarthy, sister of Mrs. Gertrude Getson, one of the suspects wanted in connection with the slaying of Richard C. Tesmer, Chicago, was Friday taken to police headquarters here for questioning by the Milwaukee and Chicago police. Miss McCarthy is employed at a local hotel.

KENOSHA SERVICE MEN PARDONED IN WYOMING

KENOSHA, Wis.—Roy E. Bergstrom, Kenosha service man, who was sentenced to a life term in the Wyoming penitentiary for the murder of his wife, Gladys, at Laramie, Wyo., has been pardoned, and is on his way to Kenosha with his mother, it was announced on Wednesday. He will be treated in a Wisconsin sanitarium for mental afflictions, said to have been a result of his war service, and which formed the basis for his release.

MURDERER OF 33 IN RUSSIA GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE

Vasili Komaroff Condemned to be Shot; Wife also to Die as Accomplice

MOSCOW. — By The Associated Press.—Vasili Komaroff, convicted of the murder of 33 persons, and his wife, as his accomplice, were sentenced Thursday to be shot within 72 hours. Neither betrayed any emotion as the sentence was passed, but there was loud applause from the crowd in the court room and cries that the sentence should be carried into effect immediately instead of waiting 72 hours.

Komaroff was alternately a tearful and boastful figure when placed on trial Wednesday.

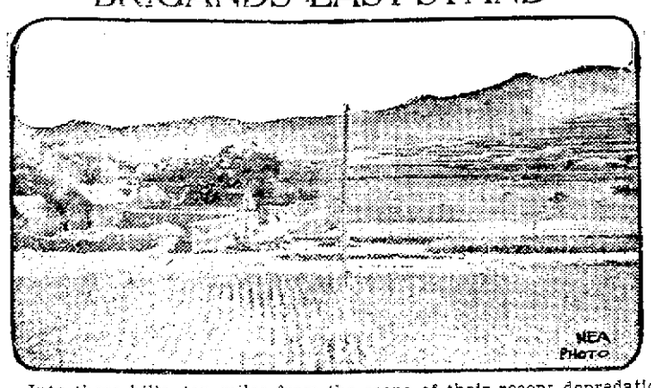

"You have my confession—why bother further?" Komaroff asked when called to the stand.

Komaroff cried in telling the story of his early life. He said he had gone to work in the fields at 13. He grinned boastfully when he told of the good times he had had in his later life, drinking and carousing, but said he wondered now why he had killed so many people. He stoutly asserted that his wife, a trembling figure standing beside him had had nothing to do with the murders.

Alienists testified that the defendant was sane. A verdict is expected shortly.

Even though he killed 33, Komaroff would not be subject to the death penalty under the soviet laws, for he did not commit robberies attended by violence.

SCIENTISTS STILL AT ODDS OVER THE RELATIVITY THEORY

Division Created by Einstein Discovery in Scientific Circles in Paris

PARIS.—A division in scientific circles has been made here by the relativity theory of Einstein, challenging old conceptions of time and space.

Former Premier Painleve, first a mathematician and later a politician, is threatening to drop politics long enough to prove that the earth has stopped turning. In fact he asserts that it never did turn. M. Painleve has a brand new theory of the universe, based on mechanics. He says Einstein is right, except that he is not right enough.

Professor Langevin, physicist of the College of France, inventor of the sounding machine by which ships may be piloted in any sea, has made what his friends describe as a religion of the Einstein theory, combating old theories and all others with much ardor.

Emile Picard, the genial permanent secretary of the Academy of Sciences, from his retreat in the Institute palace, has sought to dodge this battle of the worlds. However, he is inclined to the belief that the old-timers were fairly correct.

Director Bailland, of the Paris Observatory, says that in many respects science is still like Diogenes, stumbling along with his lantern. "As for me," he added, "I have no opinion as to the relative merits of the discussion. It would take me two years of my life to become familiar with the Einstein theory, and as I am 75 now, I really haven't the time to spare."

TWO HEALTH NURSES ASKED AT MANITOWOC

MANITOWOC, Wis. — Appearing before the city council, Miss Laura M. Chase, city and school nurse for last year who has resigned, suggested that in the future two school nurses be employed if proper results are to be obtained. She stated that two such nurses would accomplish more than one school and one city health nurse. Miss Chase stated that the attitude toward the health nurse has changed and that mothers now welcome the visits instead of being indifferent. Miss Chase leaves to accept a similar position at Viroqua.

SHRINERS WIND UP BIG 1923 CONCLAVE WITH FESTIVE NIGHT

Historical Pageant and Avenue Dance Thursday Night Bring Convention to Close

WASHINGTON—The three Pullman car cities which housed thousands of the Shriners attending their annual convention here had dissolved into special trains Friday which began the homeward exodus in the early hours. The convention program was brought formally to a close with the pageant and dancing on Pennsylvania avenue Thursday night, but the pageant was being repeated Friday for the benefit of Washington school children. There also were several entertainment features, including a marine corps and infantry demonstration, on the program for Shriners remaining over.

The conclave rose to a climax of festive color and crowds Thursday night, not even eclipsed by inaugural scenes on the avenue.

Before the last float in the pageant of historic scenes had passed the president and Mrs. Harding in their stand in front of the white house, thousands of spectators had swarmed into the street in the rear of the procession. Those who had viewed it from the capitol end of the avenue pressed up town until at one time the density of the crowd in the vicinity of the treasury building gave the police an exciting time to control it.

The sudden swarming of the crowd, estimated at more than 150,000 persons, on the avenue somewhat disarranged the plans for spreading the two tons of cornmeal thrown on the street in preparation for the "dance of the states." The dance got under way and continued for more than an hour on a stretch of eight or ten blocks, to the strains of band music distributed by amplifiers over the thoroughfare.

CATERPILLARS HALT TRAIN AND DESTROYS CROPS

ALBANY, Ore.—Caterpillars that are reported to be devastating the coast mountain region between Eddyville and Blodgett and on the Albany-Newport road Thursday evening, delayed the Albany-Newport train en route here one hour and twenty-five minutes.

One man is reported to have been driven from his home near Eddyville by the insects. The caterpillars have destroyed all orchards in their path, have resorted to eating needles from fir trees and are even reported to be eating the bark from more tender trees.

The caterpillar army was more than an inch deep on the railway tracks and the trainmen exhausted their sand supply in attempting to make grades in the devastated area. The horde is marching eastward, the trainmen say.

Recent acquisition of storage facilities in Philadelphia, it is believed, will make that city the leading flour port of the world. The efficient methods employed to handle bulk grains, when applied to shipment of flour, it is expected, will put American agents on a par with English millers.

Chinese mechanics know too little about typewriter construction to do a good job of repairing.

PRINCESS DEFIES GRANDPA'S WRATH

PRINCESS MARY AND MASTER GEORGE HENRY HUBERT LASCELLES, AND A VIEW OF HIS NURSERY.

LONDON—There's a royal row in the palace.

Says King George, looking worried: "I tell you, Mary, that poor child isn't getting enough to eat! You don't feed him enough."

Says Princess Mary: "Just like a grandpa! Of course he's fed enough. No! I simply won't wake him up in the middle of the night to feed him. That's mid-Victorian."

That's the row. Mother and grandpa can't agree on meal times for Baby George Henry Hubert Lascelles.

The conversation given here isn't absolutely verbatim. But they've said approximately that, gossip has it.

The king thinks a baby ought to be fed regularly every three hours, awake or asleep. His own children were, he argues, and he'd like to know why his grandson shouldn't be fed every three hours.

Modern nursery custom laughs at that, Princess Mary points out—nowadays a baby is left at night as long as six or seven hours if he is sleeping.

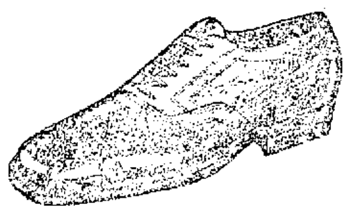

Young Master Lascelles is not a bottle baby. His mother is raising him like any other youngster, and she hasn't a bit of patience with grandfatherly notions.

Queen Mary, meanwhile, is a most docile grandma. She doesn't share the king's anxieties at all, but sides with her daughter in the row over the baby's feeding times.

So it's two to one against the king, and the upshot is that Princess Mary is bossing George Henry Hubert's nursery. She has a nurse to wait on the baby, and a nurserymaid to wait on the nurse.

She herself picked out the furniture for the nursery. The articles are plain and simple, painted in gay tints and decorated with bright colored designs. She has decreed that unnecessary luxury and tiresome ceremonials be dispensed with. Royal pomp is under the ban.

By her order he is called "Master Lascelles"—not "HSis Highness." And she feeds him when she pleases—no matter what the king says.

BREAD WEIGHT NOW REGULATED BY STATE LAW

Sealer of Weights and Measures Receives Copy of New Statute

Sealer of Weights and Measures E. H. Derr today received a copy of a new state law requiring bakers to make loaves of bread in pound and pound and one-half sizes. The new law, which embodies some of the provisions of the La Crosse city ordinance regulating the weight of bread, follows:

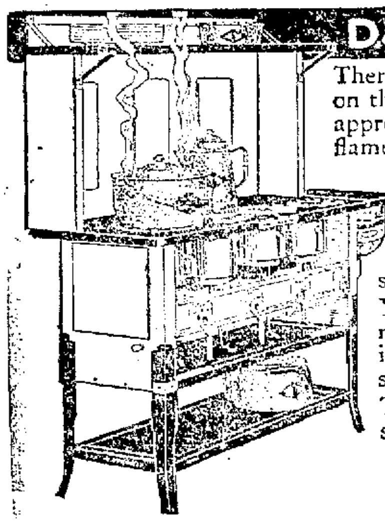

"Standard Loaves of Bread. Section 1668m. 1. All bread manufactured, procured, made or kept for sale, offered or exposed for sale, or sold, in the form of loaves for use or consumption within this state, shall be one of the following weights and no other, namely, one pound, one and one-half pounds, or multiples of one pound avoirdupois weight, provided, however, that a variation or tolerance of one and one-fourth ounces in excess or one and one-fourth ounces in deficiency per pound from the weights provided for in this section be allowed in weight of individual loaves of bread; and the weight of individual loaves of bread shall be held to be the average of at least ten loaves of the same approximate weight and same manufacturer, if that number is available at the time of weighing in any place where bread is manufactured, procured, made or kept for sale, offered or exposed for sale, or sold. If ten loaves are not available, then the weight of individual loaves shall be held to be the average of all available loaves of the same approximate weight and same manufacturer, at the time of weighing in any place where bread in loaves is manufactured, procured, made or kept for sale, offered or exposed for sale, or sold, but in no case shall said number be less than five.

Face Powders

Like we use in Movieland

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am not a maker of cosmetics. My work is on the stage and screen. But I have arranged to supply others the formulas which made me what I am.

There are four helps which cost me years of searching and a fortune. They are, I believe, the best beauty helps in existence. They made me a famous beauty. And now, after 32 years as a stage star, they keep me looking like a girl.

I am bringing those helps to millions, as a duty to my sex.

Now Powders Also

Every week I meet thousands in person, and millions in print, to explain the secrets of my youthful bloom.

Vast numbers also ask me what powders I employ. Until lately, I hardly dared to tell them. They were very costly powders, made to order. My beautiful friends on the stage and in Movieland all employ them now.

But I have arranged to have those powders made at modest prices. Not under their original name but under my name. Now you can get those exquisite powders, if you wish, at ordinary prices. Nearly every dealer has them.

The Finest We Know

We on the stage and screen are careful of our looks. And we are extravagant. We care not what we pay to get the utmost in a powder.

We have found supreme creations, made to our requirements. They are as fine as vapor, as harmless as dew. I who have searched the world for beauty helps have found nothing to compare.

Personally I use a heavy, clinging cold cream powder, with a basis like my Youth Cream. I call it Youth Cream Powder. It clings and stays. But many like the powder light and fluffy, without the cold cream base. So I have both kinds prepared. And both are fragrant with my favorite perfume.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream Powder, the clinging cold cream powder, sells for 50c. Edna Wallace Hopper's Face Powder, the light fluffy powder, sells for 50c. Both come in white, flesh and brunette.

Druggists and toilet goods counters sell my powders now. Also my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Youth Cream—my fruity cold cream. Also my White Youth Clay. Also my Hair Youth, to which I owe my thick, luxuriant hair. My directions come with each.

If you ever go to any [illegible] the powder, I hope you will try one of mine. Sold by Hoeschler Bros., La Crosse, Wis., and leading toilet counters everywhere.

EFFORT TO DISLODGE CARNIVAL ELEPHANT PROVES UNAVAILING

Beast Parks in Iowa Town and Lets Show Go on Without it

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Pulaski, Iowa, got its elephant off its hands Thursday morning, and the animal is now parked on the Bloomfield road, about eight miles from Pulaski, and refuses to move. The elephant, part of a carnival show, arrived in Pulaski about five weeks ago. When the carnival left the elephant refused to go, and every effort of cajolery and force proved unavailing.

The animal resented the efforts of his trainer to dislodge him with a tractor and the trainer retired from the scene with a broken jaw. The tractor is a wreck. In the meantime other trainers and experts have put forth their wiles, but the big fellow continued to deplete the baled hay crop of the country and remained stationary.

TRIANGLE-LESS LOVE STORY

"The Woman in Chains," now at the Majestic, is a love story that is absolutely free from the eternal triangle.

The picture was adapted from the book now published under the title of The Madonna in Chains. The story is laid in Paris and on the Isle of Martinique and concerns the love affairs of a young artist-planter who leaves his sweetheart on the Isle of Romance while he seeks fame in Parisian art circles. In Paris he meets and falls in love with another who is the sweetheart of an Apache dancer.

Wedded to the Apache sweetheart a child is born and when it is but two years old the mother deserts the husband and child to return to her dancing partner who has but lately been released from jail. Returning to Martinique the artist finds his love of yesterday still waiting his return chained to her promise to wait for him.

FOX PICTURE WILL RENEW YOUR YOUTH

Whatever you may think of the sentimental story that Mr. Fox has woven around the village smithy in "The Village Blacksmith," now at the Casino, this picture is sure to carry you back to your childhood days. It brings to life the man with large and sinewy hand.

This is just a plain melodrama with John Hammond, the village blacksmith, suffering, suffering, suffering. Poor Mother Mary Carr of "Over the Hill" comes in for no more heartaches than does William Walling here. The death of his wife leaves him to rear his family of three.

But he conducts himself in the scenes of sorrow quite naturally. We imagine that almost every one who sees him will feel sorry for him.

But there's remedy, too. Some of the [illegible] that ever [illegible] or spat on a grocery [illegible] are found here. And the fellow who played the oboe in the [illegible] come straight [illegible] farm. He seemed to reproduce the cackle of the hens last night.

FAILURE ALWAYS CAME BEFORE SUCCESS

Why should Willard Mack, author of the production, "Your Friend and Mine," at the Strand Theatre, ever feel discouraged?

His first play, "The Next Witness", had its premiere in Albany, N. Y. Many in the audience left the theatre during the performance. Since that time more than a score of his plays have proven Broadway successes.

All Willard Mack has to do to succeed in something is to fail in it first. Why should he feel discouraged?

THE EXCITERS

"The Exciters," a highly entertaining comedy drama with Bebe Daniels and Antonio Moreno in the leading roles, is the feature at the Rivoli for the balance of the week. The star in her high-powered motor car and in her hydro-aeroplane supplies a great many thrills. The story is of a girl whose whole life is spent in search of excitement. The heroine, a member of the "upper ten," possesses so much pep that her middle name should have been "dynamite." She tears around at the rate of about a hundred miles an hour, no matter what she may be doing. Without being aware of his "profession," she marries a burglar. At the close of the picture, however, everything turns out satisfactorily. On the whole "The Exciters" will keep you interested from the first foot of film to the last and you will enjoy every minute of it.

Oil From a New Source

The "turfa" of Brazil is described as a soft, brownish-yellow substance that floats on water. From it can be distilled crude oil and scrubber naphtha. The oil is pronounced a very good shale oil. When distilled the turfa shrinks to a third of its original volume, and seems to offer a coke of good fuel value.

ABOLITION OF BLIND BUREAU APPROVED BY SENATE ON THURSDAY

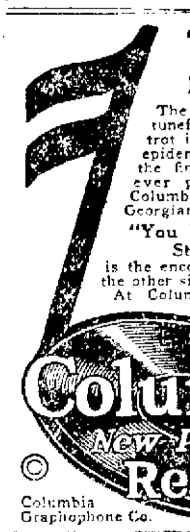

MADISON, Wis.—Abolition of the Wisconsin blind bureau and transfer of its duties to a field agent working under the state board of control, was voted almost unanimously by the state senate. This bureau was created by the 1921 legislature.

As a result of administration of the new state department started two years ago, the blind of the state urged the present legislature to do away with the bureau. There was little opposition to the repeal bill, after it had been amended to give $15,000 to the state board of control for field work among the sightless of the state.

CHICAGO CUBS DEMONSTRATE THAT NEW YORK GIANTS CAN BE BEATEN; WIN 2 OF THREE

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press. The temperature of the warm receptions they have been extending their eastern visitors was maintained Thursday by the western clubs of the National league.

The Cubs of Chicago made it two straight out of three from the New York Giants, 9 to 7, and sent the world's champions on to Pittsburgh. The Pirates were kept from roughing the Brooklyn Robins again by rain.

St. Louis and Cincinnati also won, the former again from Philadelphia, 1 to 0, and the latter made it a clean sweep with Boston, 3 to 1.

If the Cubs can hold up they will add a lot of interest to the National league race. They should prosper at the expense of Boston, which starts a series there Friday after its disastrous Cincinnati attempt.

Just now the National league is quite interesting. The Cubs have demonstrated that New York can be beaten. [illegible] New York, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, St. Louis and Cincinnati have played better than 50-50 ball since the season started, all having won more than half their games. Chicago has lost only two less than it has won. Boston and Philadelphia are the easy marks of the circuit.

The Chicago White Sox were unable to continue their rampage against the New York Yankees because it rained in the fourth inning when the score was nothing to nothing. Philadelphia gained half a game on the Yanks by again trouncing St. Louis, 8 to 5, and Cleveland pulled in its bid for second place by losing to Boston, 7 to 1. Washington made it two straight from Detroit, 16 to 4.

"Irish" Meusel of the Giants, by cracking out a brace of successive homers off Grover Alexander, accomplished a feat which no other player has ever been able to do during Alexander's long career in the National league.

The Cardinals won their second straight extra inning victory when Ray Blade smashed out a triple and sent the only run of the game across the plate in the tenth inning against the Phillies.

Eddie Rommell, ace of the Athletics' twirling staff, picked up Thursday's game in the fourth inning with the Browns in the lead and pitched hitless ball for six innings while his mates came from behind and pulled out another victory.

Charley Hollocher of the Cubs had a perfect day at bat, cracking out five hits, one of which was a double, in five times up against a trio of Giant pitchers.

Sensational fielding by John Collins and Chick Fewster and Howard Ehmke's brilliant pitching was largely responsible for the Red Sox victory over the Indians.

Homer Summa, the former Wichita Falls star now with the Indians, had a great day in the field, accepting eight chances without a wobble.

In the Midwest meet, George Dahlgren heaved the platter 125 ft. 10 inches for the best record of the Midwest, but not equalling his own mark set a year ago, which holds good in the state for 129 ft. 8 1-2 inches.

John McAuliffe cleared the stick in the pole vault last Saturday to establish a new state and Beloit college record, equalling the Midwest mark of 12 ft. 1 inch.

7 OUT OF FORTY ENGINEERS WIN "W'S" THIS YEAR

MADISON, Wis.—Seven out of the 40 students in chemical engineering at the University of Wisconsin this year won their "W" in some form of athletics, a most unusual percentage, according to the athletic department. None of the men was a member of the football team.

Kitchen, Kubosh and Hanson won their letters as members of the gymnasium team; Pickford and Becker in baseball; Newell on the track and George Bennett in tennis. It is believed by the athletic department that the percentage of "W" men is the highest ever scored by any one class in the university.

BADGER STUDENT OF FIFTY YEARS AGO RETURNS NEXT WEEK TO GET "W" AWARD

MADISON, Wis.—Fifty years ago E. W. Hulse of Boulder, Colorado, was a star pitcher on the University of Wisconsin baseball team.

Next week, Mr. Hulse, now an old man, will return to his alma mater to be awarded the "W" which he earned half a century ago, before college letters had become a custom among schools as a recognition of athletic honor.

From 1865 to 1873, Mr. Hulse was a star pitcher on the varsity baseball team. He played the first year that baseball became a university sport and pitched in the games when the state championship was first won by the university at the state fair here in 1871, and in the next year, 1872.

The athletic department says that the "W" was not thought of in those days. When the custom was established letters were awarded to former athletes.

Mr. Hulse, however, had never returned to receive his award, which is to be presented when he comes back for the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation.

Dahlgren is champion discus and hammer throw artist of the state and midwest. He is 33 years old.

VAST TIMBER AREAS SACRIFICED YEARLY BY U. S. LUMBERMEN

Less than Million and Half Acres of Virgin Timber Areas Remain in the Nation

WASHINGTON—(A. P.)—Nearly one-half of the land area of the United States, or 822,000,000 acres, was originally forested, but today there are less than 470,000,000 acres of timber, including inferior culled and second growth and millions of acres of unproductive land. Of this amount only 138,000,000 acres are of virgin timberland.

"Mining" of timber instead of cultivation of this natural wealth as a crop, is held responsible for depletion of the country's timber resources in a review published in the yearbook of the department of agriculture for 1922. The amount at present being taken out of forests is estimated at four times the replacement by growth. More than 8,000,000 acres were destroyed in a recent year by 38,400 forest fires, and 75 per cent of all lumber is still being cut from virgin stands.

Much Cleared Land Idle

While clearing forested land originally was undertaken to aid agriculture, the demands for timber soon outstripped the farm land demands, until now there are millions of cleared acres idle. In Michigan, at the average rate of settlement for the last 20 years, it would take 250 years to settle the present area of cut over lands and the remaining timber land that soon will be cut. In the southern part of the Lower Michigan Peninsula it would take 1,700 years.

"The tradition that all cut or burned-over forest land, or even the greater part of it, is being taken by agriculture is not borne out by facts," the yearbook says. "The total area of forest lands already cut or burned over, exclusive of farm wood lots, that has not been taken for agricultural use, has probably grown to 181,000,000 acres. Furthermore, our forest land is being cut over at the rate of about 12,000,000 acres yearly, and probably more than half this area is in virgin forest."

New Uses For Wood

Idle cut over forest lands mean a great expense to the community and to the state. Conservation of timber resources means removal of sawmills and wood working factories, with consequent loss of population, money and investment. Finding business for their many branch railroads to work out timber sections have been forced to discontinue, and the abandonment of adjacent farms and other property has followed.

The agriculture department experts do not believe, however, that the age of wood has been left behind. Chemical research is revealing uses for wood heretofore undreamed of, such as the manufacture of artificial silk, rope and carpets. The next few years, some say, may see the use of wood on a large scale for the production of fuel alcohol to replace gasoline and, in addition, it is believed possible that the abandonment of poor farms and the trend to permit low producing lands to return to forest may in time reverse the present runaway reduction of forest acreage.

HARRY MULDOON IS GIVEN NEW TERM IN PENITENTIARY

Harry Muldoon, 86, veteran of the Civil war who has served many prison terms and who was sentenced in United States court in La Crosse by Judge Landis two years ago to a term in the Milwaukee house of correction for raising postal money orders, is in again.

Muldoon pleaded guilty before District Judge Hanft in St. Paul to forgery in the third degree and was sent to Stillwater for a term of five years. W. J. Quinn, named by the court to represent him, made an eloquent plea for leniency and especially asked the court to limit his sentence to two years that he might not end his days behind prison bars, but Judge Hanft told him the parole or pardon board might consider that matter.

LEWIS AND CLARK ONCE CAMPED WHERE DEMPSEY IS NOW TRAINING FOR FIGHT

JACK'S TRAINING QUARTERS

By BILL BREITENSTEIN
NEA Service Writer.

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—Spirits of Lewis and Clark haunt Jack Dempsey's training quarters.

Shades of the gallant explorers, who blazed the white man's trail through the great northwest, hover over the spot where the champion is pummeling his sparring partners.

Here 119 years ago these daring pioneers made camp. Just a mile above on the banks of the swiftly rushing Missouri, where the Cascade county poor-farm stands today, they smoked the pipe of peace with hostile Indians.

Grizzlies were encountered on a little island half a mile from the scene of Dempsey's camp on July 4, 1804. So Lewis and Clark called the island "White Bear." That has been its name ever since.

But there is even more history behind the present "Dempseyville."

A century after Lewis and Clark had come, Old Brewer Volk, known for miles around, was there brewing his hops. It was his grandson, Charley Volk, who closed the deal with Dempsey for the property.

The old brewery burned down some years ago. A roadhouse sprang up in its place. The old orchestral piano still was in the living room when Jack moved in.

Now the inner dance hall is a rubbing room and bath. The outer hall is a gymnasium.

LARGE CLASS TO ENTER THE TOMAH HIGH NEXT FALL

TOMAH.—The freshmen class which enters Tomah High school in September, bids fair to be the largest not only in the history of the school but in the annals of Monroe county. Fifty-six students from the eighth grade in the Tomah schools were granted Common School diplomas entitling them to enter high school. Fifteen pupils of St. Mary's Catholic Parochial school and sixteen in St. Pe'ds Lutheran Parochial school were granted similar diplomas and without doubt the greater number of these 87 students will enroll as freshmen in the local high school. Add to this number a fair proportion of the four hundred rural pupils in the county who secured diplomas permitting them to enter high school, and allowing three-fourths of the number in the class the proportion found in the class of '26, or thirty-five, the grand total is one hundred eighteen for the class of '27, Tomah high. This is a gain of 35 students or 45 percent over the previous year.

Four hundred pupils from the rural schools of Monroe county wrote on May 16 for Common School Diplomas and won the same, entitling them to enter high school without further examination. This fact means that the farmers of the county are appreciating the value of education to the coming generation. One-third of the enrollment (352) of Tomah high school during the year 1922-23 was rural school students. Of that number, many made the trip daily to and from their rural homes. A large number boarded themselves in town quarters of one or more rooms. A still smaller number boarded in Tomah homes. These country boys and girls are almost without exception fine students. Of the graduating class of eighty-nine students, forty five reside in the country.

Huber Opposes Passage of Schumann Bill; Declares Governor Will Veto Measure

MADISON, Wis.—The Schumann bill appropriating $1,000,000 annually for bovine tuberculosis eradication in Wisconsin was unanimously passed by the senate Thursday night after attempts had successfully been made to reduce the amount to $750,000 and $500,000.

Senator Henry Huber said that he could announce for the governor that the $1,000,000 appropriation bill would be vetoed should it get through both houses. He declared that funds were not available in the treasury to meet the appropriation. His amendment cutting the amount to $500,000 was defeated.

After defeat of this amendment and another proposing $750,000, Senator Huber voted for the bill, saying that he did so "knowing that it could never become a law."

Farmers from over the state had appeared in large numbers before a committee of the whole senate unanimously expressing their favor for the project.

Groesbeck is said to favor the offering of a reward and action may be taken by the state administrative board soon, it was indicated.

ACCIDENTS TAKE HEAVY TOLL AMONG ITINERANT FLYERS

Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce Recommends Air Laws to Reduce Casualties

NEW YORK—By the Associated Press—The causes for the airplane accidents of 1922, and recommendations for the reduction of future accidents to a minimum, are found in the annual report of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America to the Secretary of Commerce. The chamber says the government must provide air law and exercise jurisdiction over all civil flying if casualties are to be reduced. The report indicates that most of the 1922 accidents were due to the itinerant pilot who has no fixed base, is unlicensed and unregulated by law, and therefore has no presumptive responsibility.

"Of approximately 1,200 civilian airplanes in operation in the United States in 1922," says the report, "between 550 and 600 were owned among 130 established operators, that is, individuals and organizations with fixed bases and conservative business policies; an equal number were distributed among itinerant pilots who have no particular system and depend for a living upon stunting, barnstorming tours, and extra hazardous assignments.

"In 1922, there were 122 accidents among the itinerant pilots, or gypsies, and only 12 among the fixed base operators. These accidents resulted in 62 fatalities among the gypsies and only seven among the fixed base operators. One hundred persons were injured through accidents with so-called gypsy planes and only seven were hurt in planes operated from fixed bases.

"The 130 established operators, having definite financial responsibility, fields, repair shops in a majority of cases, and a system of inspection for their craft, demonstrated a degree of dependability unexcelled by older and officially regulated mediums of transportation. They incurred only 12 accidents in 1922 as against 24 accidents in 1921. And many of these could have been avoided had there been in effect federal laws licensing operators.

"In startling contrast is the record of the gypsies. They have consistently replaced their damaged equipment with the obsolete surplus from government stores remaining from war production and available at prices so cheap that youths with often a few hundred dollars may, and invariably do, acquire airplanes which they alter to accommodate one or two paying passengers. The passengers are led to ride in these machines through ignorance of safety factors controlling flight, and the public generally seems to accept all aircraft as airworthy, not pausing to reflect that here is the only vehicle of importance which the operators are not compelled by law to make and operate in a manner calculated to safeguard the public.

"From 500 to 600 of these gypsy craft have wandered from town to town for at least two years. According to the most complete accounts obtainable, in 1921 there were 114 accidents involving itinerant fliers. In 1922 there were 126 accidents, an increase of twelve. In 1921 the accidents resulted in 49 fatalities and 89 persons injured; in 1922, 62 fatalities and 100 persons injured, an increase of 13 deaths, or more than 26 percent, and 1 injured, or more than 12 per cent.

"Among the gypsy fliers 37 accidents were due to lack of inspection of their equipment. Government licensing and other regulations would have prevented this. Poor piloting caused 46 accidents, stunting caused 39 accidents, also preventable by federal regulations, 11 were caused by carelessness on fields and 17 were from unknown causes, 14 to lack of landing fields, one to lack of weather data, nine to lack of route data, in which the pilots became lost and were driven off their course.

"In other words, 30 percent of the accidents among itinerants, and they had the vast majority of accidents, were caused by stunting, and 20 percent to faulty inspection of aircraft. This seems to afford sufficient evidence that federal regulations, providing primarily for the licensing of pilots as to competency, and prohibition of dangerous flying, and for the certification of equipment as to airworthiness, will operate to correct abuses in aviation, and make flying safer."

KENOSHA MAN HELD FOR MURDER OF CHICAGO GROCER

KENOSHA, Wis.—Albert Caskey, 24, wanted for the murder of Edward Gregowowicz, who was found shot to death on the floor of his grocery store in Chicago Tuesday afternoon, has been arrested in Kenosha, turned over to Chicago officials. It is claimed that his revolver was found in an apple barrel near the scene of the murder.

Caskey, who has a brother here, was found by police employed as a painter. He admitted his identity but denied any knowledge of the crime. Caskey had deserted his wife, a niece of the slain man in Chicago several months ago and it was through her identification of the gun used in the killing as her husband's revolver that he was connected with the crime.

WORLD BAPTISTS TO HOLD CONVENTION IN STOCKHOLM IN JULY

Elaborate Preparations Being Made for First World Gathering Since 1912

STOCKHOLM.—(By the Associated Press)—Elaborate preparations are being made here for the World Congress of Baptists, known as the Baptist World Alliance, which is scheduled to convene in this city July [illegible]–27. Several thousand delegates are expected from the United States, Canada, South America, Central Africa, South Africa, New Zealand, Australia, Japan, the Philippine Islands, China, Burma and India, as well as from Great Britain, Sweden and Norway and the countries of continental Europe, including the new states of Latvia, Esthonia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Reports coming to the committee of arrangements [illegible] that hundreds of American Baptists [illegible] be present. A [illegible] throughout [illegible] they will [illegible] characteristic [illegible] will be [illegible] accompanied [illegible]

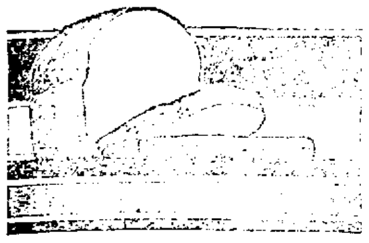

The last meeting of the Baptist World Congress was held in Philadelphia in 1911. The next [illegible] originally scheduled for [illegible] summer of 1916, [illegible] because of the war, and post-war developments have made it unwise to attempt to hold another congress until this year. Even as late as last month it was feared that the situation in the Ruhr might require another postponement, but in the judgment of the executive committee conditions now seem favorable for the holding of the congress.

Americans have been given prominent places on the program. Dr. G. W. Truett, of Dallas, Texas, has been appointed to preach the congress sermon. Dr. E. Y. Mullins will deliver an address on "Religious Liberty." Dr. E. A. Wilson, of Dallas, Texas, is to discuss the topic "The Future of Negro Baptists," and Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, of Rochester, will speak on "The New Opportunity for Women." Other important addresses will be delivered by Dr. J. H. Franklin of New York, Dr. J. P. Love of Richmond, Dr. J. Y. White of Chicago, Dr. A. T. Fowler of Brooklyn, Dr. L. K. Williams of Chicago, Dr. T. C. Skinner of Columbia, while the closing address will be delivered by Dr. J. A. Francis of Los Angeles.

CONSCIENCE TO BE ONLY GUIDE IN BATHING ATTIRE

DES MOINES, Iowa.—(By The Associated Press)—A sense of propriety will be the only guide to which swimmers of Des Moines will be compelled to observe in the way of bathing suits during the coming season, the city department announced. One piece suits of any dimensions may be worn so long as they are "decent."

CHURCH BROTHERHOOD TO MEET IN CHICAGO DURING SEPTEMBER

Arrangements Being Made for Big Gathering of Episcopal Laymen

CHICAGO — Arrangements are already in full swing for the reception here during September of the largest gathering of laymen of the Episcopal church to be held this year, when the fortieth anniversary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew is celebrated.

Not only will every Episcopal parish in the United States be represented by men and boys, but almost every parish of this denomination in England, Scotland, Ireland, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the West Indies also will send delegates and members. The gathering is known as the International Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

The organization of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was inspired by the late James L. Houghteling of this city in 1883 and from a very meagre beginning it has spread to be one of the largest organizations for men and boys in religious work in the world.

"Since its birth it has been and always will be the heart of a movement to spiritually vitalize the men and boy power of the church," said Courtenay Barber, of this city, chairman of the convention committee. The national body has held 37 conferences, none of which is restricted to members of the Brotherhood, but to all church men and boys.

WORK PROGRESSING ON THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL AT SPARTA

Hope to Have Building Ready by School Time in the Fall; Modern Structure

SPARTA. — (Special.)—Work is progressing rapidly now on the new high school building, and the masons have practically completed the exterior brick work. The roof is on the big structure. The concrete floor has been run in the gymnasium but this foundation will be allowed to stand for several months, to let it dry out thoroughly before the floor is laid on top.

Various phases of the interior work are progressing satisfactorily. The plastering has been done in some rooms. The architect's superintendent who is constantly on the job, states that the work will soon reach a stage where a large force of men can be put on to carry on the various kinds of interior finishing. It is hoped to have the building ready by the time school opens again in the fall.

Frank Groves, real estate dealer in Sparta, saw a beautiful deer in the neighborhood of Robinson Creek, Friday afternoon, while driving home from Taylor. Mr. Groves says the animal jumped a five wire fence with ease and grace, and from a safe distance stood and looked at him. Mr. Groves stopped his car and sat and watched the creature, until it finally jumped another fence and disappeared in the woods.

Veterans William H. Blyton and W. W. Hubbard will attend the state encampment of the G. A. R. at Oshkosh, on June 11, 12 and 13, as representatives from the post of this city, the John W. Lynn post.

Mr. E. N. Borsford, representative of the United States department of agriculture, who is in charge of Camp Robinson, has received word that if present plans are carried out artillery troops will be sent here for practice, in 1924. In the meantime, explosives will be removed from the vicinity of the areas to be used by the artillery troops. Mr. Borsford expects now at any time to receive word from his department that the contract has been let for packing the powder he has on hand. The work will take from four to five years, from the time it is started, according to his estimate, and will give employment for some 75 people. At the present time, Mr. Borsford has fourteen employes, including guards and truck drivers.

$5,300 FOR BROKEN HIP

HASTINGS, Minn.—Mrs. Louise Leedstrum, formerly housekeeper for John Herman, now dead, won her suit for damages against his estate in Dakota county district court here. She asked $12,200 as damages for a broken hip received, she alleged, in working for Herman. It was alleged he had thrown water outdoors in winter time and the woman slipped on the ice. The jury granted her $5,300.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. — Archie Holmes, 7 years old, was drowned in the Wisconsin river at Biron, near here, when he fell into the water while trying to measure its depth with a stick.

LIBERALIST PASTOR NOT ALLOWED TO RESIGN

RE-GRIND YOUR CYLINDERS

When a motor has lost its power, lacks compression, pumps oil, fouls its plugs, develops a knock, or piston slap and consumes oil and gasoline out of proportion to the service rendered, it's a sure sign the cylinder needs re-grinding and fitting with over-sized pistons and rings. These conditions are caused by cylinders which have become worn out-of round and taper. To overcome these troubles, the cylinders must be reground.

All work guaranteed.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Speculative sentiment was unsettled at the opening of Friday's stock market and price changes were decidedly irregular. Sharp resumption of Thursday's selling in the oils and motors, Studebaker dropping a point, but low priced rails were in fair demand at advancing prices. Coca Cola duplicated its previous high on a gain of one point.

New high records for the year were made by Pere Marquette and Schulte Stores. Steel and Tube preferred jumped nearly six points and Adams Express moved up 2½ in reflection of the increased dividend. Equipments turned heavy. Pierce Arrow issues yielded materially to selling pressure. Foreign exchanges opened slightly lower.

The closing was irregular, selling pressure exerted against California Petroleum which lost over five points dragged down also other industrial issues to the lowest prices of the day in the final hour. Sales approximated 600,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—General selling of wheat found the market without much support Friday during the early dealings. General optimism as to likelihood of a reparations agreement between France and Germany had a bearish effect, and so too did reports of clear warm weather in Oklahoma, where harvesting will start on Monday. Trade evening up, however, to prepare for the government report due after the close helped somewhat to steady the market. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼ to ⅝c lower, with July $1.02⅝ to $1.01¼ and September $1.02 to $1.03¼, were followed by a moderate further setback and then something of a rally.

Subsequently reports of crop damage in Oklahoma and Kansas brought about relative strength in the July delivery. The market closed unsettled at same as Thursday's finish to 1¼c lower, with July $1.01¾ to $1.20½ and September $1.03¼ to $1.03½.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening at ¼c decline to a shade advance, July 80⅞ to 80⅝c, the corn market underwent a general downturn.

Scarcity of offerings, especially in the July delivery, brought about rallies later. The close was unsettled at a range varying from ¼c net decline to ⅝c advance, with July 81¼ to 81⅜c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c off, July 28⅛c, and later showed slight losses on the deliveries.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provision market.

MAYOR'S COMMITTEE ACTS ON NUMBER OF MATTERS THURSDAY

Recommend Curb and Gutter Installation at South End of West Avenue

In preparation for the regular June session of the common council set for Friday night, the mayor's special committee Thursday night disposed of all matters referred to it for consideration.

The proposed project of installing curb and gutter on West Avenue, from Green Bay street to South Avenue, was discussed and the engineering department will be ordered tonight to prepare plans and specifications for the work and also will be informed to advise the council of the width the street can be made. It was the opinion of committeemen that with the teaming and trucking going on in that section, the street should at least be made 42 feet wide.

A request for the installation of curb and gutter came from the factories in that section, owners of which claim that during heavy rains, present drainage facilities are insufficient to relieve the floods.

Regarding the proposed improvement of Mill street from St. Cloud to St. James streets, the committee voted to recommend to the council that the block be reclaimed by crowning it with limestone, with a final covering of some form of asphalt. Nearby opposite the Copeland park diamond residents have complained of the dust caused from increased traffic before and after ball games.

Improvement of St. Andrews street by an extension in the width of the street on either side is contemplated by the council, the committee voting that plans and specifications for the work be prepared by the engineering department.

CUBANS REVOLT AGAINST PRESIDENTIAL PRIVILEGE

HAVANA, Cuba.—The outbreak of a minor revolution against presidential privilege was signalized in the Cuban house of representatives when a resolution annulling the presidential decree for the purchase of the Santa Clara convent was passed.

The resolution further forbade the use of public money in furtherance of any future purchases authorized by decrees and provided penalties for officials attempting to use public funds in such cases.

FOURTH FREE CHEST CLINIC TO BE HELD HERE ON JUNE 25-27

Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association to Send Specialists to Examine People

La Crosse will have a three-day visit of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association's free chest clinic June 25, 26, and 27, according to an announcement just received from Milwaukee headquarters. Definite information as to the building in which the clinic will be held will be available in a few days.

This will be the fourth visit of the traveling clinic to La Crosse. The first free chest clinic held in this city was in September, 1921, when 416 people were examined, of whom 82 were found tuberculous. The second clinic was held in June of last year, when 241 people were examined and 70 found to have tuberculosis; and the third last November, when 230 examinations were made. At this clinic 49 cases of tuberculosis were discovered.

Three staff physicians of the Anti-Tuberculosis Association Drs. T. L. Harrington, A. A. Pierre and J. F. Shimpa will be the examiners. They will be assisted by several clinic workers of the organization. Miss Mary Regan, county nurse, and the city health department nurses.

Intensive advance work is being done in preparation for the clinic, and special effort is being made to have all members of families in which there is or has been a case of tuberculosis have a thorough examination. Tuberculosis is a communicable disease, and the importance of an examination for persons who have been exposed to it can readily be recognized. Others who will be urged to attend the clinic are those having the symptoms of tuberculosis, namely fatigue, loss of pep, weight and appetite, a persistent cough, vague pains in the chest, afternoon fever and sleeplessness; anemic and underweight children; former sanatorium patients; and all people who have at any time had tuberculosis.
